ERRATUM.—Through the misinterpretation of a communication made to the Editor, respecting the order of the Sacramental Services at St. Mary's Church, this Service is throughout the Local Almanac entered, in error, for

The Fifth Volume of the CHELTENHAM ANNUAIRE AND DIRECTORY now presented to the public, has undergone a very careful revision, and its Editor believes it will be found as accurate as the fluctuating character of its contents will admit of. The Almanac and Calendar portions of the work have been re-arranged, and some important additions introduced, with the view of embodying as much useful information as possible. The various lists of the public Institutions, Societies and local Authorities, in any way connected with Cheltenham, have been corrected to the present time, and such notices of their objects and plans inserted as the confined limits of the publication would warrant. The DIRECTORY, both of the Resident Gentry and the Tradespeople, as well as the Street Guide and the list of Detached Houses, have been considerably enlarged—all the additions and alterations so far as they could be ascertained, having been scrupulously noted. It has, however, been found impossible, without increasing the price of the work, to include the Electoral Registration, which, from the many additions made during the past year, now extends to fifty-one folio pages as published by the returning officers of the borough, and comprises a list of upwards of two thousand names.

The January mean of the Barometer, taking the same period as the average, is 29.721.

The quantity of rain which usually falls this month in Cheltenham is between 2 and 3 inches. The seven years from 1833 to 1839 inclusive gives 2.174 inches as the average. In 1840 the quantity was 3.10 inches.

(These results are calculated, for the most part, from Tables kept by Mr. S. Moss, formerly of the High Street.)

1 S	[Paul's, & Christ Ch.	The Cheltenham "season" commences on the first of May, though it is not until the arrival of the full summer band at the Montpellier Spa that the gaiety and animation incident thereto attract much attention. This event generally takes place about the second Monday in the month, and within a day or two the evening musical promenades also begin, the band performing from this date thrice, and sometimes even oftener, in each week, from seven to nine p.m., as well as regularly every morning, from eight to ten o'clock. May is always considered one of the best months for taking the waters, and there is in consequence usually a large attendance, both of residents and visitors, at the different Pump Rooms. The second floral and horticultural exhibitions of the Cheltenham and Pittville Societies take place towards the latter end of the month. The session of the Literary and Philosophical Institution concludes on the second Tuesday. The prevailing winds are S.W. and N.E., the former greatly predominating. The mean of the thermometer may be estimated at 53°609, of the barometer 29°746. The quantity of rain which falls in May is 1·601 inches, taking the average of seven years.

1 TH	Of late years, owing to the protraction of the London season so far into the summer, the influx of metropolitan fashionables into Cheltenham has rarely taken place, at least not to any considerable extent, until nearly the middle of July. About this time, however, the waning gaieties of the Court disperse over the country the aristocracy of the land, and cause a great increase in the number of our visitors. The established amusements peculiar to this favourite resort are all in full operation, and afford ceaseless opportunities of delightful pastime and healthy exercise.

The Town is full of company, and the constant succession and diversity of the amusements which present themselves, engaging the attention and diverting the thoughts of the visitors, keep the place quite alive. The promenades and walks are constantly thronged with strangers, and the rides and drives with groups of fair equestrians, and gay and dashing equipages.

STREET GUIDE.

In the following "Guide to the Principal Streets and Detached Residences," those Houses only have been inserted which are occupied by the Resident Gentry. The Street List might have been considerably extended, had it been deemed expedient to have done so, by the introduction of such streets as are either partly tenanted or occupied by Tradespeople; but these it has been thought best, for obvious reasons, to exclude altogether from the present return.

A MEMOIR OF THE LIFE OF BISHOP HEBER.

"Although the Memoir of this able, amiable, and lamented man, by his Widow, is full of interesting matter; yet its size and price place it out of the reach of a large class of readers, to whom Mr. Bonner has done a valuable piece of service by the present more accessible publication. The principal events of the Bishop's life are very perspicuously related, and the various excellent features of his character are pointed out with great feeling and discrimination."—Literary Gazette.

T. COMFIELD,

An occasional Advertisement appears necessary in Cheltenham on account of the fluctuation of its visitors, and to the wearers of Spectacles the above remark is more especially applicable, as they are frequently much inconvenienced, and often made the dupes of wandering "unprincipled pretenders," generally through not knowing of a working Optician in the town.

T. C. having had many years' experience in Optical Science generally, can with fairness state, that he continues to supply Spectacles in Gold, Silver, Tortoiseshell, and the Invisible Steel, as well as the first London Houses, and in some cases better; being willing to devote more time and attention to them than they usually do—the fitting of the frames being often as important as the adaptation of the glasses.
