STREET GUIDE.

[In the following "Guide to the Principal Streets and Detached Residences," those Houses only have been inserted which are occupied by the Resident Gentry, or are, strictly speaking, Private Houses. The list might have been considerably extended, had it been deemed expedient to have done so, by the introduction of such streets as are wholly, or for the most part, appropriated to the purposes of Trade; but, as the names of the occupants of houses thus circumstanced are generally conspicuously written up, it was felt that any other Guide to their names and addresses than that which the general Directory afforded, was scarcely, if at all necessary.]

The Police and Constabulary forces of Cheltenham were formerly under the control and at the disposal of the local Commissioners; but since the introduction of the Rural Police into the county, the duty of watching and preserving order through the town has wholly devolved upon the newly constituted authorities—the Commissioners having disbanded the police engaged by them as now no longer necessary. The Cheltenham district, which also includes two sub-districts, having, together, a population of 45,000 souls, has assigned to it fifty-one constables or policemen. The calculated average cost of maintaining this force is £3,223 per annum.

The Public Commissioners hold their meetings at the Fleece Inn, the first Friday in every month, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of taking cognizance of all matters connected with the local government of the town—plenary powers being vested in them for that purpose by an Act of Parliament passed in the year 1821 (2nd Geo. IV.); by which Act they are also empowered to frame such bye-laws and rules as to them shall appear necessary for the peace, security, and general interests of the town. The appointment and direction of the Police and Fire Establishments,* the paving and lighting the streets and highways, the regulation and superintendence of the flies and public conveyances are, therefore, comprehended within their peculiar province. Since the establishment in 1840 of the Rural Police, the Commissioners have, however, ceded to that newly constituted power the duty and responsibility of "watch and ward," and have disbanded the constabulary and police forces formerly employed by them, and subject, of course, to their jurisdiction.

* The Engine House is situate in St. George's Terrace, and is under the superintendence of Mr. John Whitmore, Building Surveyor, St. George's Place.

PRESENT STATION—Cirencester.

Up-Trains for London leave the Cirencester Station about every two hours throughout the day, and the Down-trains arrive there with corresponding frequency. Coaches in connection with these trains leave the various Offices in Cheltenham two hours before the departure of each up-train. As the hours of arrival and departure of the different trains change with the seasons, we think it best not to give the times at present advertised, as these would possibly mislead if referred to a month or two hence.

CHELTENHAM,

IN ITS

PAST AND PRESENT STATE ;

BEING THE FOURTH EDITION OF THE STRANGER'S GUIDE ;

Enlarged by the Introduction of much Additional Information ; and Illustrated with numerous Lithographs, Maps, and Wood Engravings.

BY H. DAVIES.

NOTICES.

“ Well deserves notice for the handsome style in which it is illustrated and got up, and for the talent displayed in the narrative, which relates all that is necessary to be known about the Past and Present State of the Town and Promenades. The Woodcuts are neat and numerous, and the information not only locally useful, but generally interesting,—so that it may be read with pleasure even by those who are not fortunate enough to visit the place.”—Literary Gazette.

“ This Work, largely and admirably illustrated, does the highest credit to the provincial press. The Author has compiled his Volume with much judgment and good taste, and issued it in a very elegant form.”—Art Union.

“ This Volume is a pictorial edition of a former Work by the same Author, and forms a very elegant and well-written Guide-book, fitted not only for the Stranger in Cheltenham, but for the Library of the Resident. Few towns in England are more worthy a volume to describe its beauties, and to indicate its amusements, than the garden town of Cheltenham ; and a very faithful description of all that is worthy the Visitor's attention is here given in a clear and impartial manner. The illustrations are of a very superior description, presenting an excellent representation of the most conspicuous parts of the town ; and, altogether, this is a very artistically and carefully finished Work.”—Atlas.

OF England and Wales;

Forming a familiar Monthly Guide to the Collecting Botanist.

Interspersed with Pictorial Glances, Botanizing Incidents, and Notices of many Remarkable Localities of the Rarer and most Interesting English and Welsh Plants.

BY EDWIN LEES, F.L.S.

NOTICES.

“From descriptions of the individual branch or blossom, Mr. Lees has warmed into expatiations of those vistas of natural beauty and majestic scenery which have burst upon him as he traversed the locales of his favourite flowers, and hence we have nature painted in many scenes of admirable sweetness and loveliness, with real feeling and artistical skill. The auxiliaries to the leading subject so add to its interest, that the Work becomes one of pleasure as much of instruction, and will be found agreeable to the general reader, as well as useful to the Botanist.”—Metropolitan.

“This book, by Mr. Lees, is a pleasant chronicle of the months; full of wholesome prose, starred with scraps of poetry. We like it none the less, because its botanical researches contain constant references to one of the loveliest districts in England—South Wales and its neighbourhood; the Author’s general descriptions acquire thereby a local colour, which enhances their interest.”—Athenæum.

“An excellent monthly guide for the collecting Botanist.”—Court Journal.

“A very pleasing and literary guide to the beauties of our Wild Flowers through every month in the year.”—Literary Gazette.

“Fluently and elegantly written.”—Spectator.
