WHAT THE PRESS SAYS.

"Every day's experience tends more and more to confirm me in my opinion that the temperance cause lies at the foundation of all social and political reform.—RICHARD COBDEN, June, 1853.

Mr. BRUCE's (Home Secretary) Testimony: "Social and sanitary reformers, who spent their lives in doing good to their fellow-men, had declared that their labours for the moral and social improvement of their fellow-men were baffled at every turn by the recklessness and moral degradation which sprung from, and were occasioned by, the liquor traffic."

"It would be impossible to find anything which stands for so much loss to soul, body, and estate; for so much discomfort and everything that is disagreeable, as the public-house. Even if we accept the best case that can be made for it in principle, the fact is, it is still a Huge Nuisance and Misery. There is not a Vice, or a Disease, or a Disorder, or a Calamity of any kind that has not its frequent rise in the public-house. The public-house degrades, ruins, and brutalises a large portion of the British People."—Times, July 1872.

"For persons who are apt to suffer from exposure, nothing is so injurious as the use of spirits 'to keep the cold out.' The effect of alcohol taken in cold weather is simply to deaden the sensibility of the body to the feeling of chilliness, and temporarily to hasten the circulation, which leads people to fancy they are being 'warmed.' But then there follows a reaction, during which the circulation is depressed. Hot coffee and tea are the safest warming winter beverages.—Daily Telegraph.

"Alcohol is a purely artificial substance, for which no necessity exists in nature, which neither warms nor nourishes, nor strengthens, and which contributes in no way whatever, whether taken in large or small doses, to the vigour of the human frame."—Freeman's Journal.

"The medical opinion which prescribes alcohol for a great variety of diseases is a blunder or a fraud. It is a blunder so far as doctors are swayed by the popular prejudices of their times. It is a fraud when doctors prescribe alcohol because their patients wish alcohol to be prescribed."—Saunders' News Letter.

"The liquor interest is a fearful monster; it devours the hard earnings of thousands of drunkards, reeling with a rotten body and a cheerless soul to a hopeless grave."—Alliance News.

"I profess I know no task which a clergyman can better set himself to do than a work of this kind; and if the result of this drink is a sight at which devils may laugh and triumph, ministers should never sit down until they have tried their utmost, said their utmost, and seen whether the strongholds of the mighty cannot be cast down by the Cross."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"It is a notorious fact that the bloated, pampered frames of brewers' men, publicans, etc., offer to the medical faculty the worst possible subjects when afflicted by disease."—Gardeners' Chronicle.

"Public-houses are perpetually holding out allurements to those classes of the community who are the least able to resist them. That they can be regarded in no other light than as seminaries of iniquity of which no principle of political economy can justify the continuance."—Quarterly Review.

"The liquor traffic is a public nuisance, by its physical consequences it causes death to thousands, reduces thousands more to madness or idiocy, and afflicts myriads with diseases involving the most wretched forms of bodily and mental torture, and it indirectly causes three-fourths of the taxation required by pauperism and by criminal prosecutions and prison expenses."—Edinburgh Review (26

WHAT THE DOCTORS SAY.

"Though I look old, yet I am strong and lusty
For in my youth I never did apply
Hot and rebellious Liquors in my blood;
Nor did not, with unbashful forehead, woo
The means of weakness and debility.
Therefore my age is as a lusty winter,
Frosty but kindly."—SHAKESPEARE.

"Oh! madness to think use of strongest wine<sup>s</sup>
And strongest drinks our chief support of health,
When God, with these forbidden, made choice to rear
His mighty champion, strong above compare
Whose drink was only from the liquid brook."—MILTON'S Samson Agonistes.

"Alcohol never creates nervous energy."—Sir Benjamin Brodie.

"I hardly know any more potent cause of disease than alcohol, leaving out of view the fact that is a frequent source of crime of all descriptions."—Sir W. Gull.

Dr. J. H. Grespi says, "the experience of years has shown that of all causes of disease alcohol is the most frequent, fatal, and general."

"Many people who pass for highly respectable, and who mean no harm, are thus daily damaging their health, and making themselves unfit to brave any of the storms of life."—Sir James Paget F.R.S.

"The use of alcoholic drinks does not enable cold to be sustained; it does not enable heat to be sustained; it does not ward off the diseases of hot climates, and it does not in the long run produced increased power of sustaining muscular action."—W. B. Carpenter, M.D., F.R.S.

"There is no greater cause of evil, in this country, than the use of alcoholic beverages. It injures the body, and diminishes the mental power to an extent which I think few people are aware of. Such is the result of professional experience during more than twenty years of professional life."—Sir Henry Thompson.

"I am an abstainer because, having examined the question on all sides, I have come to the conclusion that the smallest quantity of alcohol limits my usefulness. It can't give strength; it can take it away. The experience is world-wide that the use of water and other harmless liquids is much more conducive to effective labour than the use of intoxicating drink."—H. S. Patterson, M.D.

"I repeat it again and again, that Alcohol in all its forms and combinations, whether in the home-brewed, or the wine that sparkles, is never converted into nourishment."—A. Courtney, R.N., Surgeon.

"In every animal body nutrition is the only source of power; and that whatever amount of force is evoked from the animal is but the representative of something previously put into it in the shape of nutrition. (1) Alcohol instead of strenghtening, it weakens. (2) Instead of nourishing, it poisons. (3) Instead of stimulating it narcotises."—R. L. Bayley, M.R.C.S., Stourbridge.

"The grand truths taught by science on the subject are now all clear to this effect, that the old belief of alcoholic drinks being necessary as foods for the wants of man is utterly untenable. No verdict rendered from nature was ever more explicit. As a man of science he could say, that alcohol is not necessary for the wants of man or any living thing, but has a physiological effect, perfectly unnatural, and always dangerous."—B. W. Richardson, M.D., F.R.S.

"My own experience, both in country and town practice, has been that two-thirds of all my patients, rich as well as poor, have been indebted to drinking for either the onset or the recurrence of their illness. After careful and elaborate research, I am compelled to believe that at least 100,000 human beings die yearly in this country from the direct effects of alcoholic drinking. In addition to this enormous loss of life, close on 75 per cent. of our pauperism, 80 per cent. of our crime, and nearly one-half of our insanity are, at an annual cost of nearly £150,000,000."—Norman Ker, M.D., F.L.S. 27

LENTILLA, OR DAILY FOOD.

An Adult's (not an Infant's) Food. The best Diet for Invalids. Excellent for nursing Mothers, and Excellent for Family Use. From J. Chaning-Pearce, M.D.—"Brixton Rise, January 16, 1879.—'James's Daily Food' is very NUTRITIOUS, easily DIGESTED, and has a SALUTARY EFFECT on the bilious secretions."

From Dr. Fairbank, Physician to H.R.H. Princess Christian.—"Windsor, Dec., 1878.—Easily digestible & highly nutritious. It makes excellent puddings & omelettes."

From H. C. Bartlett, Ph. D., F.C.S.—"Laboratory, 39, Duke Street, Grosvenor Square, November 26, 1878.—'James's Lentilla, or Daily Food,' is composed of the most nutritious Farinas. Possess special stomaclic properties, which render it easy of assimilation, & considerably enhance the dietetic value of its flesh-forming constituents."

From W. Edgar Buck, M.A., M.D. (Cantab.), M.R.C.P. (London) M.O.H.—"School of Cookery, Leicester, November 9, 1878.—I have examined 'James's Lentilla, or Daily Food,' and find it extremely nutritious, satisfying, and digestible. It makes good puddings. It would be an admirable food for persons of impaired digestion, owing to the judicious admixture of stomachics in it. It is the best preparation of Lentils I have seen."

From Wm. Strange, M.D., Physician to Wor. General Infirmary and M.O.H.—"1st September, 1878.—A wholesome and GRATEFUL Food. From its composition I should say that it is peculiarly suited to the diet of children and persons of weak digestion. Taken in some quantity, it produces a very mild operation of the bowels, which to many will be a great advantage."

From W. Adams, Esq., F.F.C.S.—"London, 31st March, 1878.—Lentilla is more nutritious than any of the farinaceous foods with which I am acquainted; forms, with milk, a perfect food for invalids and children, and all adults as an evening meal."

Every medical man who has examined and tried it has pronounced it far superior to the Revalenta, or any other preparation of Lentils.

Retail of FORTNUM & MASON, SAVORY & MOORE, and all best Chemists and Grocers (who will get it to order if not in stock), in Canisters at 10d. and 1s. 6d.

Immediate relief from Dyspepsia, Flatulence and Stomach Sickness, and speedy and radical cure by the use of LENTILLA.

Wholesale of JAMES & Co., 21, Cardington St., Hampstead Road. and all Wholesale Houses. Agents wanted where there are none.

Court Journal, July 14th, says:—"For puddings, omelettes, rissoles, custards, &c., Lentilla is proved decidedly superior to any preparation in the market."

GLACIALINE

THE UNFAILING PRESERVATIVE,

As Supplied to Her Majesty's War Office, for use in Tropical Climates.

Analyzed by Eminent Professors and Doctors, and Certified to be Perfectly Harmless and thoroughly Effectual.

In the Paris Exposition of 1878, Glacialine was pronounced to be The Best Preservative.

Dairy Farmers! Milk Vendors! Housekeepers!

Keep your milk and cream from turning sour! Keep your eggs fresh for a year! Keep your butter sound and sweet, without adding a particle of common salt, by using the a preparation specially adapted for dairy purposes, which, being harmless, effectual, and moderate in price, has been, during the past three years, in general use among many of the largest dairy farmers and milk vendors of the kingdom, and allowed to be a source of comfort and economy, both in the dairy and the household.

FOR PURPOSES OF MILK PRESERVATION,

Glacialine is simply invaluable, since it keeps milk or cream perfectly sound and sweet for many days in the hottest and most thundery weather; and milk treated with it, according to directions, may be sent any distance by rail, without any risk of its becoming sour soon after its arrival.

FOR PURPOSES OF BUTTER MAKING,

the properties of Glacialine are perhaps even more remarkable, since it will keep butter perfectly sweet and sound for months, without the addition of a single particle of common salt; and experts have failed to discover in the butter thus preserved any difference, in flavour, or aroma, between it and newly-churned butter.

Tons of fresh butter, preserved with Glacialine, are being imported from Denmark and other countries into the English markets, where it finds ready purchasers on account of its excellent flavour and qualities.

Sample Packet, Fourpence (Post-Free).

Copies of an interesting and important Pamphlet, entitled—“Milk, Chemically, Physiologically, and Practically Considered; and How to Preserve It,” are given gratis with sample packets of Glacialine. This little treatise, 32 pp., demy 8vo., has been flatteringly noticed by the leading agricultural and other high-class journals.

Butchers! Bacon Curers! Sausage Makers! Poulterers! Fishmongers!

Save your meat from decay! Keep your sausages and pork pies sweet and in good colour! Save your poultry and fish from decay! by using the

ROSE EXTRACT OF GLACIALINE.

This preparation, specially adapted for purposes of meat preservation, possesses all the preservative properties of the Salt of Glacialine, with the additional quality of keeping up the natural colour of meat.

Sample Packet, One Shilling (Post-Free).

Prospectuses, Testimonials, Opinions of the Press, in favour of both Preparations of Glacialine, may be obtained on application to the

BIRDLIP HOUSE SCHOOL, BATH ROAD, CHELTENHAM.

ESTABLISHED 1860.

Principal - - Mr. JAMES COX.

ASSISTED BY RESIDENT AND VISITING MASTERS.

THE object of this School is to insure a thoroughly useful Education, by carefully grounding the Pupils in those subjects adapted to their individual requirements, whether for Professional, Commercial, Agricultural or other pursuits. The system adopted is calculated to lead them step by step to inquire and think for themselves, so as to render them more self-relying than is usually the case. Special care is exercised in the Moral and Religious Training, and the general comfort of the Pupils, parental watchfulness taking the place of rigid discipline.

The Domestic Arrangements are under the immediate superintendence of the Principal's Wife. In addition to those who have been admitted into this School from different parts of Great Britain, Mr. COX has had the honour of receiving Pupils from India, America, France, and Ireland, to whose friends references are kindly permitted

"Dr Turnbull appears to be a medical revolutionist. He has no respect for anything merely because it is old. He tests everything by its results, and is prepared to accept and to practise anything of which the results are good, whether it be old or new. He tells us that he is neither an allopath, a homeopath, nor a hydropath, but an eclectic. That which seems to him true in the teaching of all medical schools he accepts, that which seems to him false he rejects, even though the rejected theory may have the support of great names. He has been led to devote himself specially to the study of cancers and tumours, and in the volume before us he gives some account of sixty cases in which cancers and tumours were successfully extracted by him by the scientific practice of organic preparations, without the administration of chloroform or the aid of the knife. Some of these cures are of so surprising a character that he has done well to append testimonials to the intelligence and truthfulness of the witnesses whose testimony he quotes. One of these testimonies is from our 'honoured friend, Dr. Morton Brown, of Cheltenham, whose testimony as to any matter of fact we should accept unhesitatingly. Dr. Turnbull's methods may be from a medical point of view outrageously heterodox, but a perusal of these testimonies has led us to the conclusion that if we were suffering either from tumour or cancer, before calling in an ordinary surgeon with his knife, we would at least try what Dr. Turnbull could do for us by his less painful and apparently more successful methods."—The Fountain, February 22nd, 1877.

"Science reveals its secrets to earnest inquirers, and in the face of extraordinary discoveries which are being continually brought under public notice and appreciation, it would be both impolitic and unjust to ignore those which are proclaimed by medical investigators, and come recommended by testimonials from persons whose sincerity and good faith are unquestionable. Dr. Turnbull appears to have studied deeply the subject to which the volume before us is devoted, and the new treatment he has adopted is the result. He puts the knife aside which was once so greatly used in the treatment of cancers and tumours, and here shows that it is not needed. We should like the profession, which has adopted, we believe, many things it once abjured, to give Dr. Turnbull a fair hearing; and to sufferers we would recommend a perusal of his volume, and the notable facts and cases appended to it."—The News of the World, July 20th, 1879.

"In a very handsomely bound volume, consisting of over one hundred pages, the author submits to the reader's criticisms his views on the treatment of one of the most fatal diseases to which the 'mortal coil' is heir, and other matters. His opinions and mode of treatment may be unorthodox; but in the massive appendix, which occupies nearly one-third portion of the entire volume, the reader will find ample opportunity to ascertain the claims of the author as an original thinker, and also the value of the system he so vigorously advocates. The eclectic and organic medicine treatment of cancer is that on which the author has relied for success. He discards the 'mineral treatment,' 'the use of the knife,' and much of that code which to allopaths is so dear, on account of its antiquity and the professional celebrity possessed by many of those who made the subject of cancer a speciality or a leading branch of practice. The volume opens with a very neatly-executed photo-frontispiece, is printed in clear type on toned paper, and issued from the press in a very creditable manner indeed."—The Weekly Review, September 6th, 1879.
