THE CORN TRADE.

The English wheat crop is getting into stack. It has been an expensive harvest, but the damage done has not been so great as at first supposed. Cool temperature has prevented sprouting to some degree, and has also forbidden the heating trouble in the new stacks. The yield is now put at from 32 to 33 bushels by most judges, but there exists great divergence of opinion as to how many of these bushels will satisfy the miller. The total export supplies of wheat from North American Continent are estimated at 185,000,000 bushels, a net increase of 17,000,000 bushels.
