FREEDOM OF MARRIAGE.
 It should be made a grave offence if any sect of the Christian religion takes upon itself, outside the laws of the land, to determine that it is wrong—spiritually, morally, or otherwise—for any man or woman, mentally and physically healthy and of the same nation, to be joined in marriage, or after the marriage for such persons to declare that they are not married and that the offspring of such marriage is illegitimate.—Robert R. Rentoul, M.D., in "Ideas."

A UNITED COMMUNION SERVICE.
 In a letter to his diocese, the Bishop of Hereford announces that, with the cordial support of the Dean, he is adding to the regular thanksgivings for the Coronation a celebration of the Holy Communion in the Cathedral on June 28, to which, he says, "I propose to invite both the members of my own Church and such of our Nonconformist neighbours and friends as may feel moved to join in our worship on this unique occasion."

THE MORMONS.
 The President of the Mormon Church has issued at Salt Lake City a message to the ministers of the Gospel of all denominations and to the people of Great Britain. In this statement the charges of polygamy brought against the Church are denied, and an investigation into the conduct of the members of the different communities is solicited.

BEST ROOM FETISH.
 The Penge Sanitary Inspector in his annual report says:—"The fetish of a best room, usually carefully locked up, is a real difficulty to surmount. It becomes fusty and evil smelling, and when used in this condition is anything but a boon."

REV. W. J. MAYERS,

For years associated with the work of Dr. Barnardo's Homes, in aid of which he is paying a week-end visit to Cheltenham.

A woman of eighty-three, who has just died at Nottingham, had lived in two squalid rooms, her only support, it was supposed, being her old-age pension and 30s. a quarter allowed her by the chapel she attended. In her bed on Tuesday was discovered a bank pass-book, showing that she had £615 on deposit, and a will leaving the money to her sister.

MR. HENRY GREENING,

A CHELTENHAM MUSICAL COMEDY, PERFORMED BY LOCAL AMATEURS, AND WRITTEN BY MR. HERBERT T. RAINGER, WITH MUSIC BY MR. HELLER NICHOLLS, AT CHELTENHAM OPERA HOUSE, MAY 9 TO 13, 1911.
THE WHOLE OF THE CAST.

NEW IDEA IN HAIR ORNAMENTS.
The revival of short lace veils, made of silver or gold net, which are fixed over the hair with a gold or jewelled fillet, is a new idea in coiffure ornaments for evening wear. These new veils are the outcome of the Juliet theatre cap, made of plaited strands of metal braid of jewelled lace, or a network of pearls or coloured beads.—Mrs. Hugh Adams, in "London Opinion."

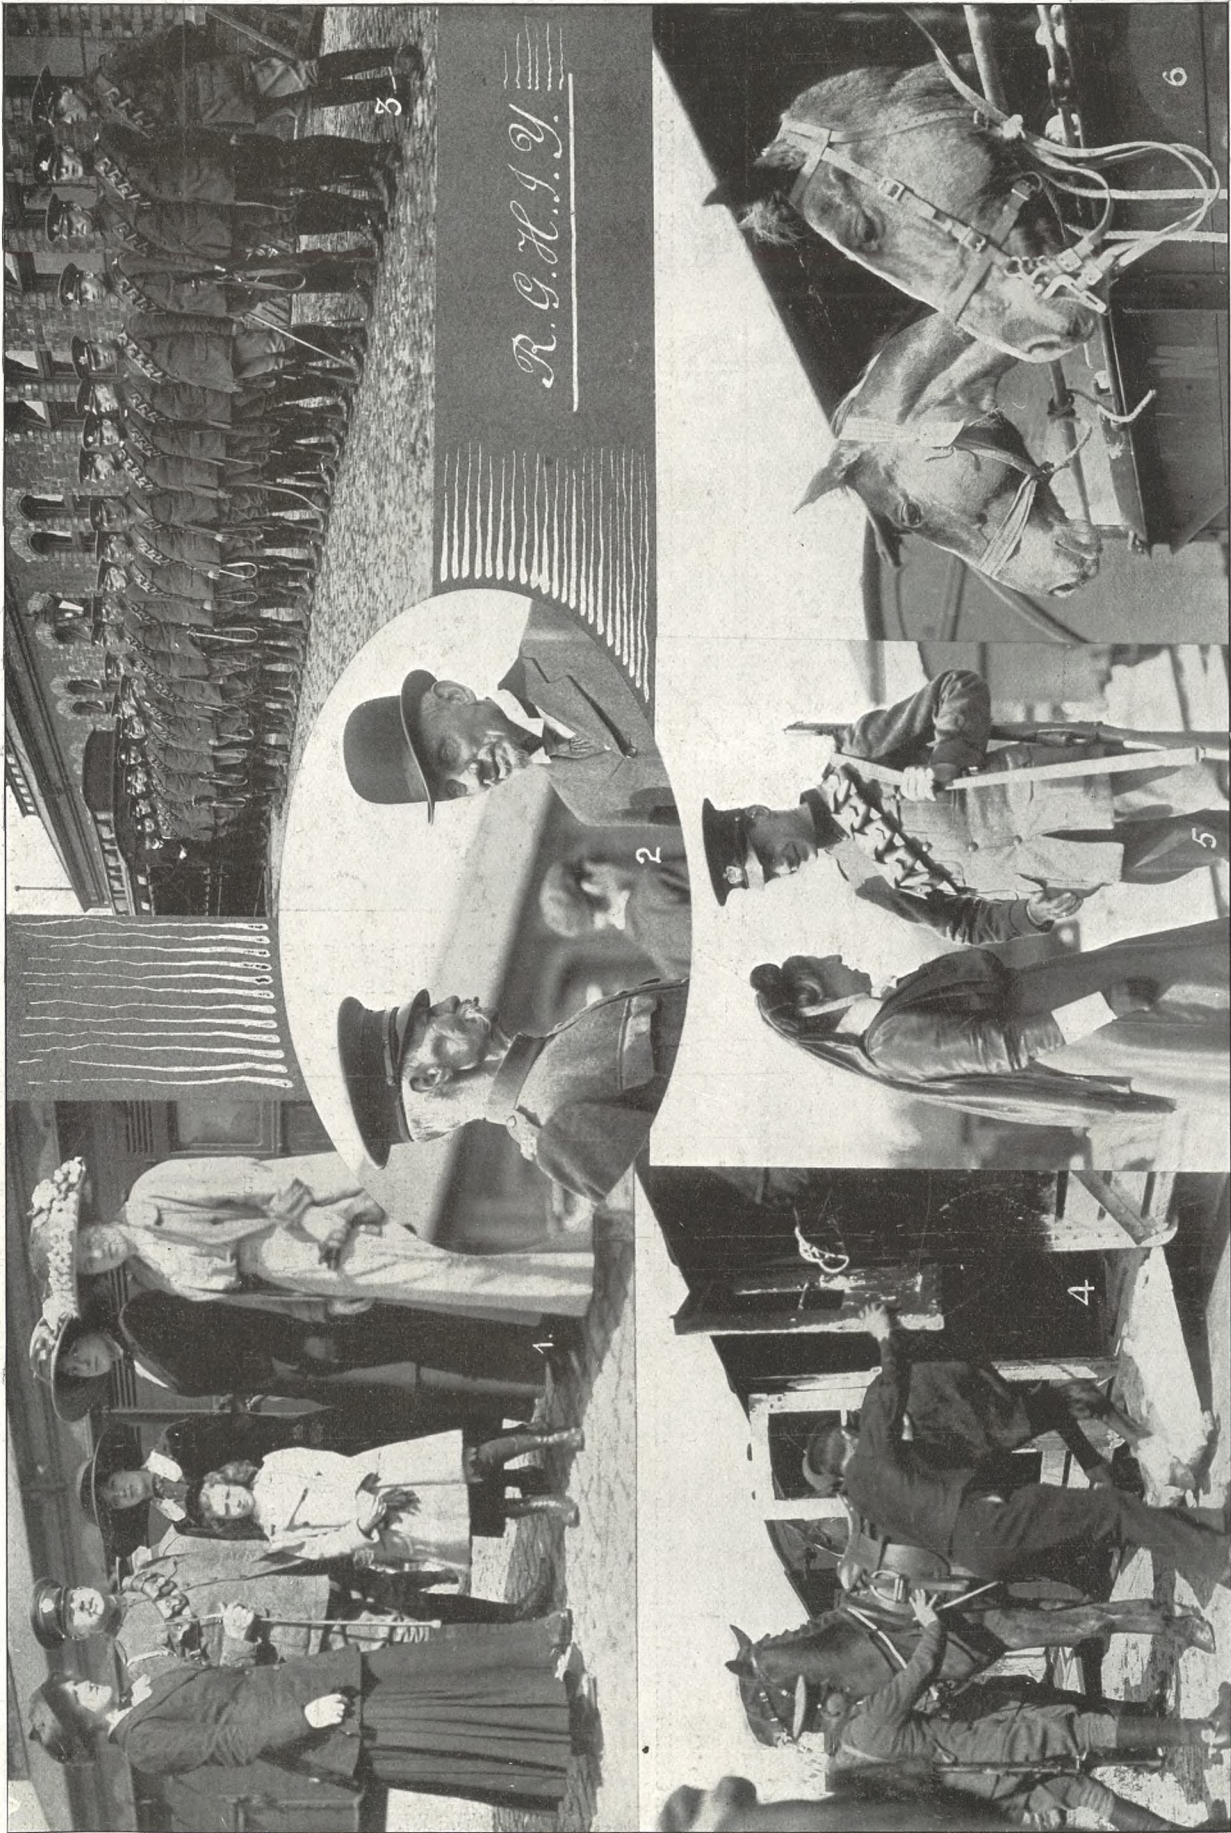

THE LAUNDRY QUESTION.
Washing at home is a burden: no woman can deny this. But is the burden removed by sending the things to a laundry? I think not. How about the cost of the destruction it works in the long run? How about the never-ending mending it entails? How about the unhealthy condition in which the clothes are often returned, smelling of strong chemicals or dirty water, that makes even airing them an unpleasant duty? How about the disease it brings into the home? If women could only go round the laundries and see some of the garments with which their own are washed, very few would ever send their clothes to a laundry again!—"Girl's Own Paper."

THE DRAIN ON SCOTLAND.
Scotland is being drained of her life's blood. In the Highlands and the Lowlands the old people are being left in loneliness, and by their hearthsides they are thinking wistfully of the bairns who once played around them. There is silence now in many Scottish homes. The footsteps of the young folk (remarks "The Graphic") no longer clatter up from the village street or crush the scent out of the purple heather on the hillsides. The bairns have grown up into tall men and women, and they have listened to the voice which is calling away the sturdiest sons and the tallest lasses of Scotland. They have followed the call and have gone to build new homes in the Far West, while the old folk sit with clasped hands, hugging remembrance, which is but a cold and ghostly thing. . . . What is the cure, or is there a cure? Rival politicians have different remedies, but each party has lagged behind in doing its duty, and now it may be too late to staunch the gaping wound. To change the metaphor, the heather is aflame; the fever for the West is afoot. Scotland loses; Canada gains. Is not that just the law of life?

OUR SWEET TOOTH.

There are no fewer than 60,000 people employed in manufacturing sweets in the United Kingdom. The total value of the sweets annually made in Great Britain is £6,500,000; and that is not the retail nor wholesale value, but what the manufacturer gets. If you double the sum you will get approximately the amount spent by consumers on bon-bons.—“Ideas.”
