SALT LAKES IN BRITAIN.

The existence of salt lakes and deserts in Britain in pre-glacial times was stated by Mr. W. W. Watts, professor of geology to the Imperial College of Science, at the Royal Institution on Tuesday, to be shown by the peculiar geological features of Charnwood Forest, Leicestershire. It was by far the oldest landscape known in Britain. To-day where the marl had been swept away by denuding agents the rocks protruded in peaks, and in some cases the rocks were harder than steel. The resemblance of the scenery to deserts in Arabia and Arizona, he said, went to show that in the pre-glacial period there must have been deserts in Britain occupied by salt lakes. As a further proof of the existence of the deserts ages ago he indicated by means of slides the smoothness of a number of the rocks in Charnwood Forest. Their polish, he said, could only have been produced by the action of the wind drifting sand against them. From vastly ancient days the marl had preserved the original rocky landscape.

THE CORONATION ANOINTING SPOON

has been used at the Coronation of all English Monarchs since the 12th Century. The ridge dividing the bowl into two parts is filled with holy oil, into which the Archbishop dips his two fingers. You can have an exact model of this spoon in varying sizes in solid silver, richly gilt, or electro gilt. They are most useful as Tea or Coffee Spoons, Jam or Fruit Spoons, etc. MESSRS. WAITE & SON, Jewellers, Cheltenham, will willingly send their Booklet "Concerning the Coronation," which describes this unique Souvenir and many other most interesting mementoes of the coming celebration.

Estate of £196,150 has been left in the will, just proved, of the late Mr. A. Lafone, ex-M.P. for Bermondsey.

A large shoal of mackerel appeared at Dover on Monday. Numbers of fish were washed on the pier landing stages and caught.
