It is proposed to raise a monument at Dunkirk in honour of the British officers who fell in the siege of that port in 1793.
During July, August, and September of this year the Road Board made advances amounting to £131,764 from the road improvement fund to county councils and other highway authorities.
After a six months' singing tour of the British Empire the 215 members of the Sheffield Choir landed in London on Sunday and returned to Sheffield. The tour has cost £60,000.

A TRUE FISHING STORY

Miss Florence Agg, of Cheltenham, with a record catch of salmon. They weighed as follows: — 22lbs., 16lbs., 14lbs., 13lbs., 13lbs., 9lbs., and 8lbs., a total of 95lbs. Miss Agg caught them all in three hours on the Roy River, Inverness-shire, on Sept. 15th, 1911.

A young woman who was accused of theft at West London Police-court was stated to be the co-heiress to nearly £100,000.

The Duke of Connaught opened at the Grafton Galleries on Tuesday an exhibition of pictures of old masters in aid of the National Art Collection. This was his last public appearance before going to Canada as its Governor-General.

GREAT SHOP FIRE AT GLOUCESTER.

VIEW OF THE FRONTS OF THE THREE SHOPS NEXT MORNING.

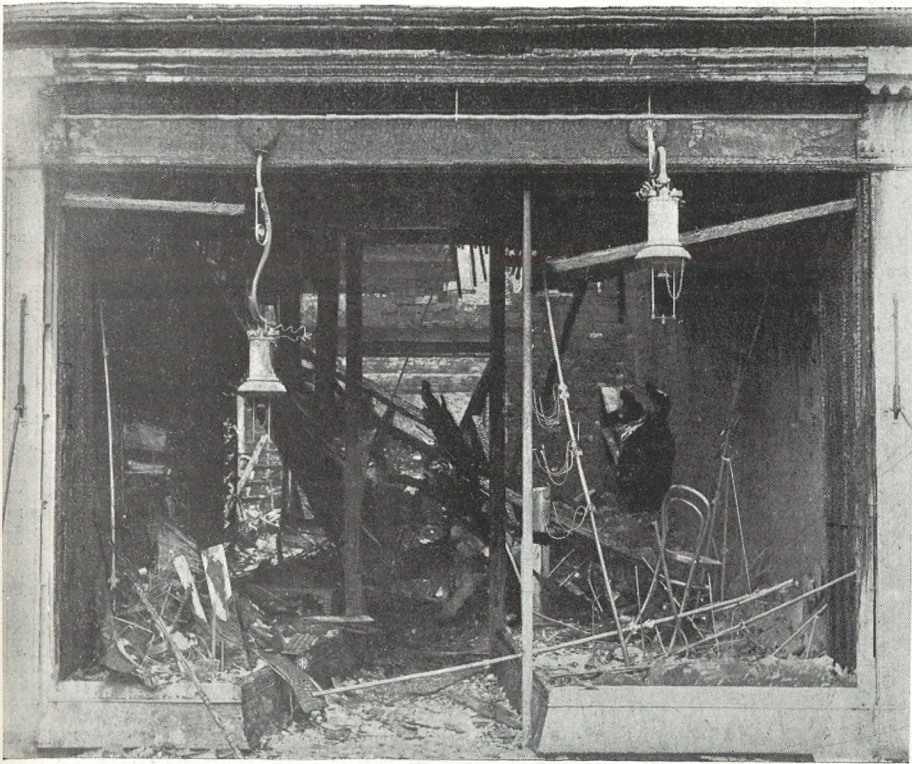

On Sunday, October 1st, 1911, this serious fire broke out on Messrs. Walker's drapery premises in Eastate-street, completely gutting them, as also those of Mr. Parsons, iron-monger, next door, and seriously damaging those of Messrs. Smith, Rogers, and Co., pork butchers. Both Stroud and Cheltenham Fire Brigades were sent for, and assisted in extinguishing the conflagration.

STANDARD BREAD.

Lately there has been a general stimulation of public interest in the subject of bread, its preparation, its nutritive value, and its varieties. We have been treated to an elaborate apology for the use of bread made with "standard flours," and we have been solemnly assured, not indeed by dieticians, but by some members of the medical profession who appended their names to a much-discussed "manifesto," that it is imperatively necessary for the community to eat "standard" bread. We have had a report on bleached flour; we have had statements dealing with the conditions under which baking is carried on in our large cities; and last, but not least, physiologists asserting that white rats fed on offal flours thrive much better than other specimens of the species which have been put on a diet of white bread and milk. It is hardly necessary to say that the public has not been in a position to make up its mind upon the subject. Where doctors disagree to such an extent, and where the subject of disagreement involves such technicalities as those used in bread-making, it is hardly to be wondered that the average layman feels doubtful, to say the least, in deciding between the relative claims of white and brown bread. — "The Hospital."

The Exchequer statement for the half-year ended September 30 shows that the national revenue amounted to £73,028,721, a decrease of £25,895,275 compared with the corresponding half of last year.

MR. JACK KING,

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter King, Well-springs, Cheltenham-road, Gloucester, whose sad death took place Sept. 29, 1911, aged 19½ years. He was buried at Barnwood Church, Oct. 3, on the very day he should have gone into residence at Cambridge University, where by his brilliant attainments he had won a scholarship. He was head monitor at the Crypt School, Gloucester.

FASHIONABLE MILITARY WEDDING IN CHELTENHAM.

CAPTAIN D. A. GARDINER, R.A., AND MISS ENID WILLIAMS.

One of the most beautiful weddings of the season took place at All Saints' Church, Cheltenham, on Oct. 3, 1911, when Captain D. A. Gardiner, R.A., son of Mr. T. Julian Gardiner, of Allt Dinas, Cheltenham, was married to Miss Enid Williams, daughter of Mr. Oliver J. Williams, of Wellington Court, Cheltenham. The bridegroom, best man, and several of his friends were in military uniform, and a detachment of N.C.O.'s from the bridegroom's regiment lined the nave and formed an arch with their whips outside church.

CONSERVATIVE v. LIBERAL.

Mr. Harold Begbie, discussing in "Public Opinion," thus defines Conservatives and Liberals. He says:—
 "On the public platform the Conservative politician is as polite and flattering to democracy as any Liberal, but in the depths of his heart and in the privacy of his own soul he is conscious of suspicion and is profoundly aware of danger. He does not believe that the Voice of the People is the Voice of God. Rightly or wrongly, he holds that it is perilous to put questions of great pith and moment to the hazard of the ballot-box. Examine the thesis of Conservatism—a perfectly intelligible and a quite honourable thesis—and you will surely find that its ground and foundation is distrust of democracy.

"The Liberal, upon the other hand, is distrustful of the expert. He believes that a vast mass of humanity, representative of all classes and interests, is more likely to come nearer to a right and truthful decision than an aristocratic committee or a body of professors. The Liberal is the man who prefers to put his case before a Jury; the Conservative is a man who would prefer to take the arbitrament of a Judge."

CHELTENHAM WORKHOUSE MASTER'S RESIGNATION.

OWING TO MR. EVES'S ILL-HEALTH, HE AND MRS. EVES HAVE RESIGNED THE POSITIONS OF MASTER AND MATRON AT CHELTENHAM WORKHOUSE. THE PAST AND PRESENT POOR-LAW OFFICERS OF THE UNION ON THURSDAY, SEPT 28th, 1911, PRESENTED THEM WITH TWO BEAUTIFUL ARM-CHAIRS, IN WHICH MR. AND MRS. EVES ARE SHOWN SITTING IN THE ABOVE PHOTOGRAPH.

FIRE AT MR. F. CYPHER'S HOUSE, Queen's Road Nurseries, Cheltenham.

INTERIOR OF THE GUTTED BEDROOM.

The fire broke out in two separate parts of the house on the same afternoon, and a servant girl has been brought up at the local police-court in connection with same, being remanded on an alleged charge of arson. The fire was extinguished by the Cheltenham Fire Brigade, but Mrs. Cypher, who was lying dangerously ill in another bedroom, had to be hastily rescued.

A DAYLIGHT SAVER.

This looks like an ordinary alarm, but it isn't!

To begin with, it has a bevelled glass front and bold dial which can be read at a glance—a shrill bell which can be stopped instantly, and, unlike other cheap alarms, it is carefully timed before being offered for sale. Only realise, that for a trivial 3s. 6d., you can be called at any hour with certainty, and you will buy one of these Wake-up Alarm Clocks at once, of MESSRS. WAITE & SON, JEWELLERS, CHELTENHAM.

The King has approved the appointment of the Earl of Dudley to be a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath, Civil Division.

The marriage of Mr. Claude H. E. Bullock, only son of Mr. J. H. Bullock, of Hazleton, Leckhampton, to Miss Lillian Pearson, eldest daughter of the late Mr. A. E. Pearson, L.R.I.B.A., of Aireworth, Cheltenham, was solemnized on Sept. 30 at St. Martin's Church, Montreal, Canada, the officiating minister being the Rev. James Roy, LL.D., of Montreal.

MEN WHO WILL NOT WED. VILLAGE CLUB TO BLAME.

Prebendary Salmon, rector of Barcombe, Sussex, has taken the young men of his parish to task for fighting shy of marriage. He says there were only three weddings in Barcombe last year, although the parish has a population of close on 1,200.

Practically the whole of the inhabitants are engaged in agriculture, and there are a large number of small holders and market gardeners. The rector does not think it is the fault of the ladies, and he has done all he can to arrange social gatherings so that both sexes can meet under happy auspices.

There is a fine club for young men, and the rector hints that this may be one of the causes of the state of things which he is deploring. The young men, it is suggested, are made so comfortable at the club that they preferred their pipes and games to the companionship of a wife.

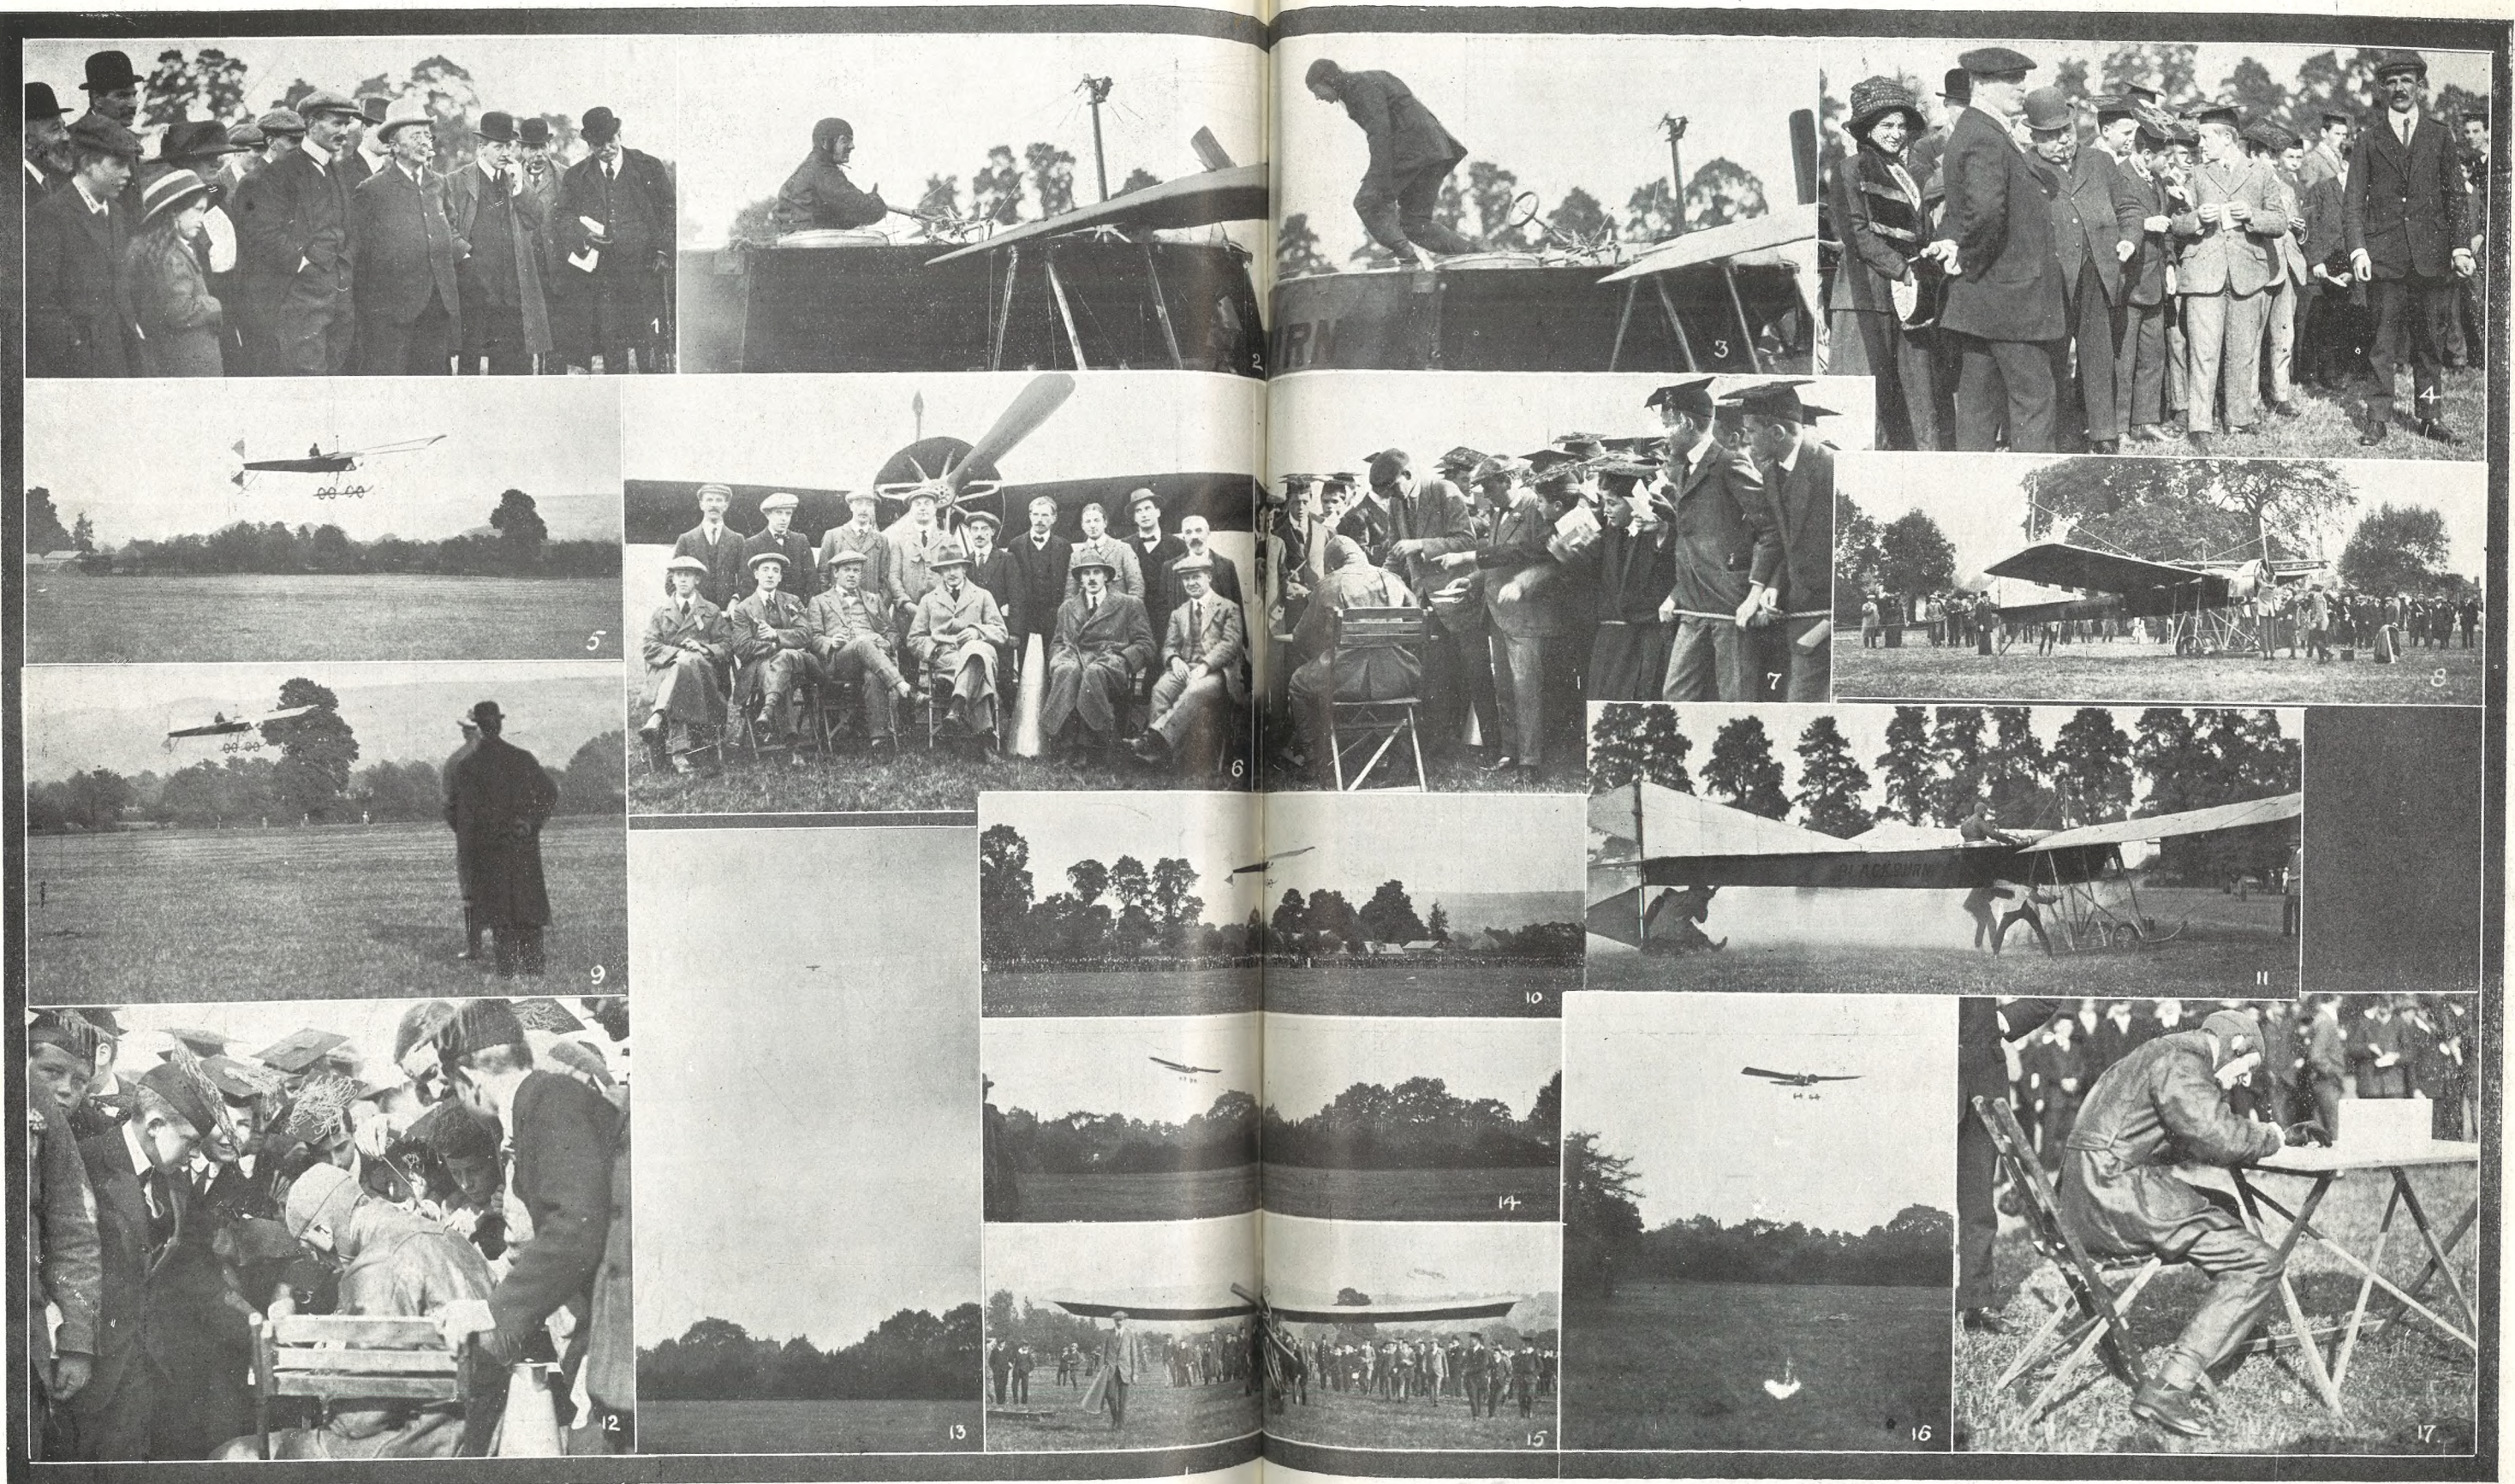

WOMEN'S VOLUNTARY MEDICAL SOCIETY.

WEEKLY WEIGHING OF BABIES.

This Society, which meets at 2 Bath Street, Cheltenham, undertakes to weekly weigh and register all the Babies of Cheltenham and District, giving medical advice where necessary, providing teas for the mothers who bring their children, and keeping a general and watchful eye on the youthful population of the town. It is a really good work, and contributions towards the work will be gratefully received and acknowledged.

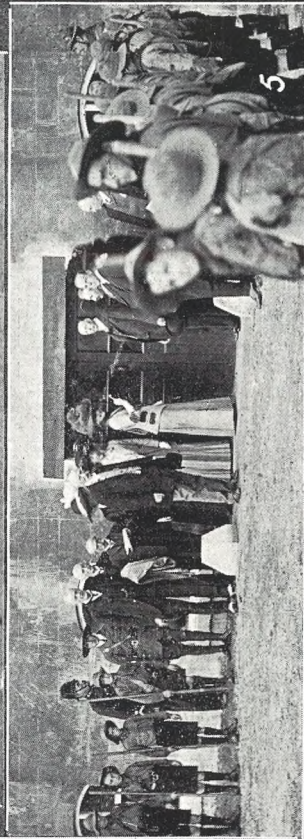

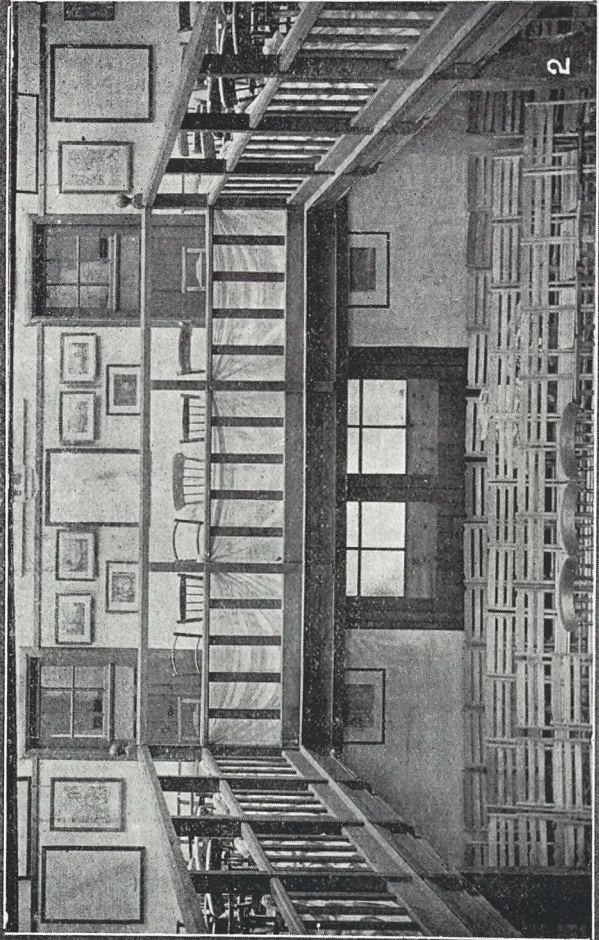

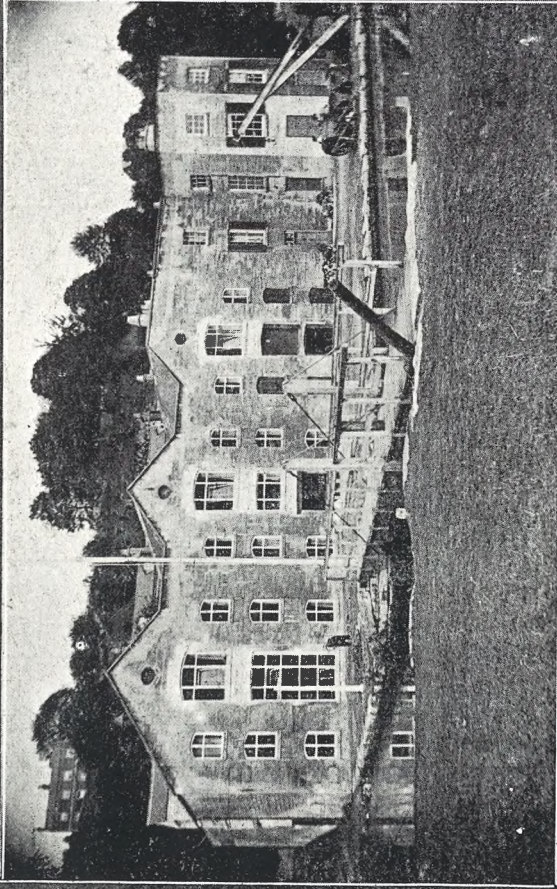

Above are three of the babies being weighed, and a group of mothers and infants who attended on October 10th, 1911, with three members of the society.

FLYING EXHIBITION IN CHELTENHAM.

MR. B. C. HUCKS, ON HIS BLACKBURN MONOPLANE, GAVE A MAGNIFICENT SERIES OF EXHIBITION FLIGHTS AND AROUND CHELTENHAM ON OCTOBER 5, 6, AND 7, 1911, REACHING HEIGHTS OF OVER A THOUSAND FEET, AND FLYING TO GLOUCESTER AND BACK ONE DAY.

1.—Some well-known Cheltonians watching a conjuror performing on the aviation ground. 2.—Mr. B. C. Hucks in his seat ready to start. 3.—Getting out of his machine after a flight. 4.—Spectators. 5.—Rising, well; leaving the aviation field, going towards Cleeve Hill. 6.—Mr. Hucks (in centre), Mr. Day, his manager (to the right, megaphone is between them), and group of stewards and assistants. 7.—Signing his autograph on postcards for Cheltenham College boys. 8.—Tuning up the Gnome engine before starting. 9.—Making another ascent. 10.—Just clearing the trees. 11.—Holding the monoplane back before starting, with engine running. The fumes from the engine can be seen like a fog beneath machine being driven back by propeller. 12.—College boys surging round for autograph. 13.—About a thousand feet up. LOTTERY CHARGE DISMISSED.

The Chard Tariff Reform Club recently organised a dance and concert, charging sixpence admission, and it was advertised that a firm of cycle manufacturers, as an advertisement for their machines, would give a bicycle to the holder of a certain numbered ticket, the number to be deposited secretly. On Monday the secretary and two members of the committee and the proprietor of a Chard newspaper were summoned on a charge of promoting and publishing a lottery. The Bench held that the prosecution had failed to prove a lottery, and dismissed the case. They consented to state a case for the High Court.

OUR CANT-RIDDEN NATION.

What I object to is cant. If Germany or France or Italy covet a bit of someone else's territory we are shocked and horrified at its act of aggression. But when we march forth ourselves to annex someone else's property we are always inspired by the highest moral motives, and do it solely for the welfare of humanity. And whether we admire it or not I say the old hypocritical spirit of the Puritans is rampant in our country to day. We are under the domination of Praise-God Barebones.—"Ideas."

THE EIGHTH COMMANDMENT.

MR. JOHN MERRYMAN,

Who died October 20th, 1911, aged 59 years. Deceased carried on a successful dairy business in Swindon-road, Cheltenham, for thirty years.

Stealin' is stealin'. Whoy is Italy stealin' Tripoli? Because Turkey isn't sthrong enough to knock her doon. Whoy doesn't Italy steal Morocco or Tunis or Egypt or the Congo? Because France an' England an' Jarmany are too sthrong fur her. The eighth commandment doesn't say "Thou shalt not steal from the sthrong." It says, "Thou shalt not steal." There's no loophole there. There's not wan exception in thim four short wurruds. They were dhrawn up in days whin nobody cud move an amindmint to the law av God. What right hev Christian nations to smash the Tin Commandmints?—James Douglas in "Ideas."

BOODLE'S TEETH,

We attend at North House, Cheltenham, Every Day; Mr. Collett's, High Street, Bourton-on-the-Waber, Every Tuesday; and at Hartwell's (Ironmonger), High Street, Chipping Norton, Every Wednesday.

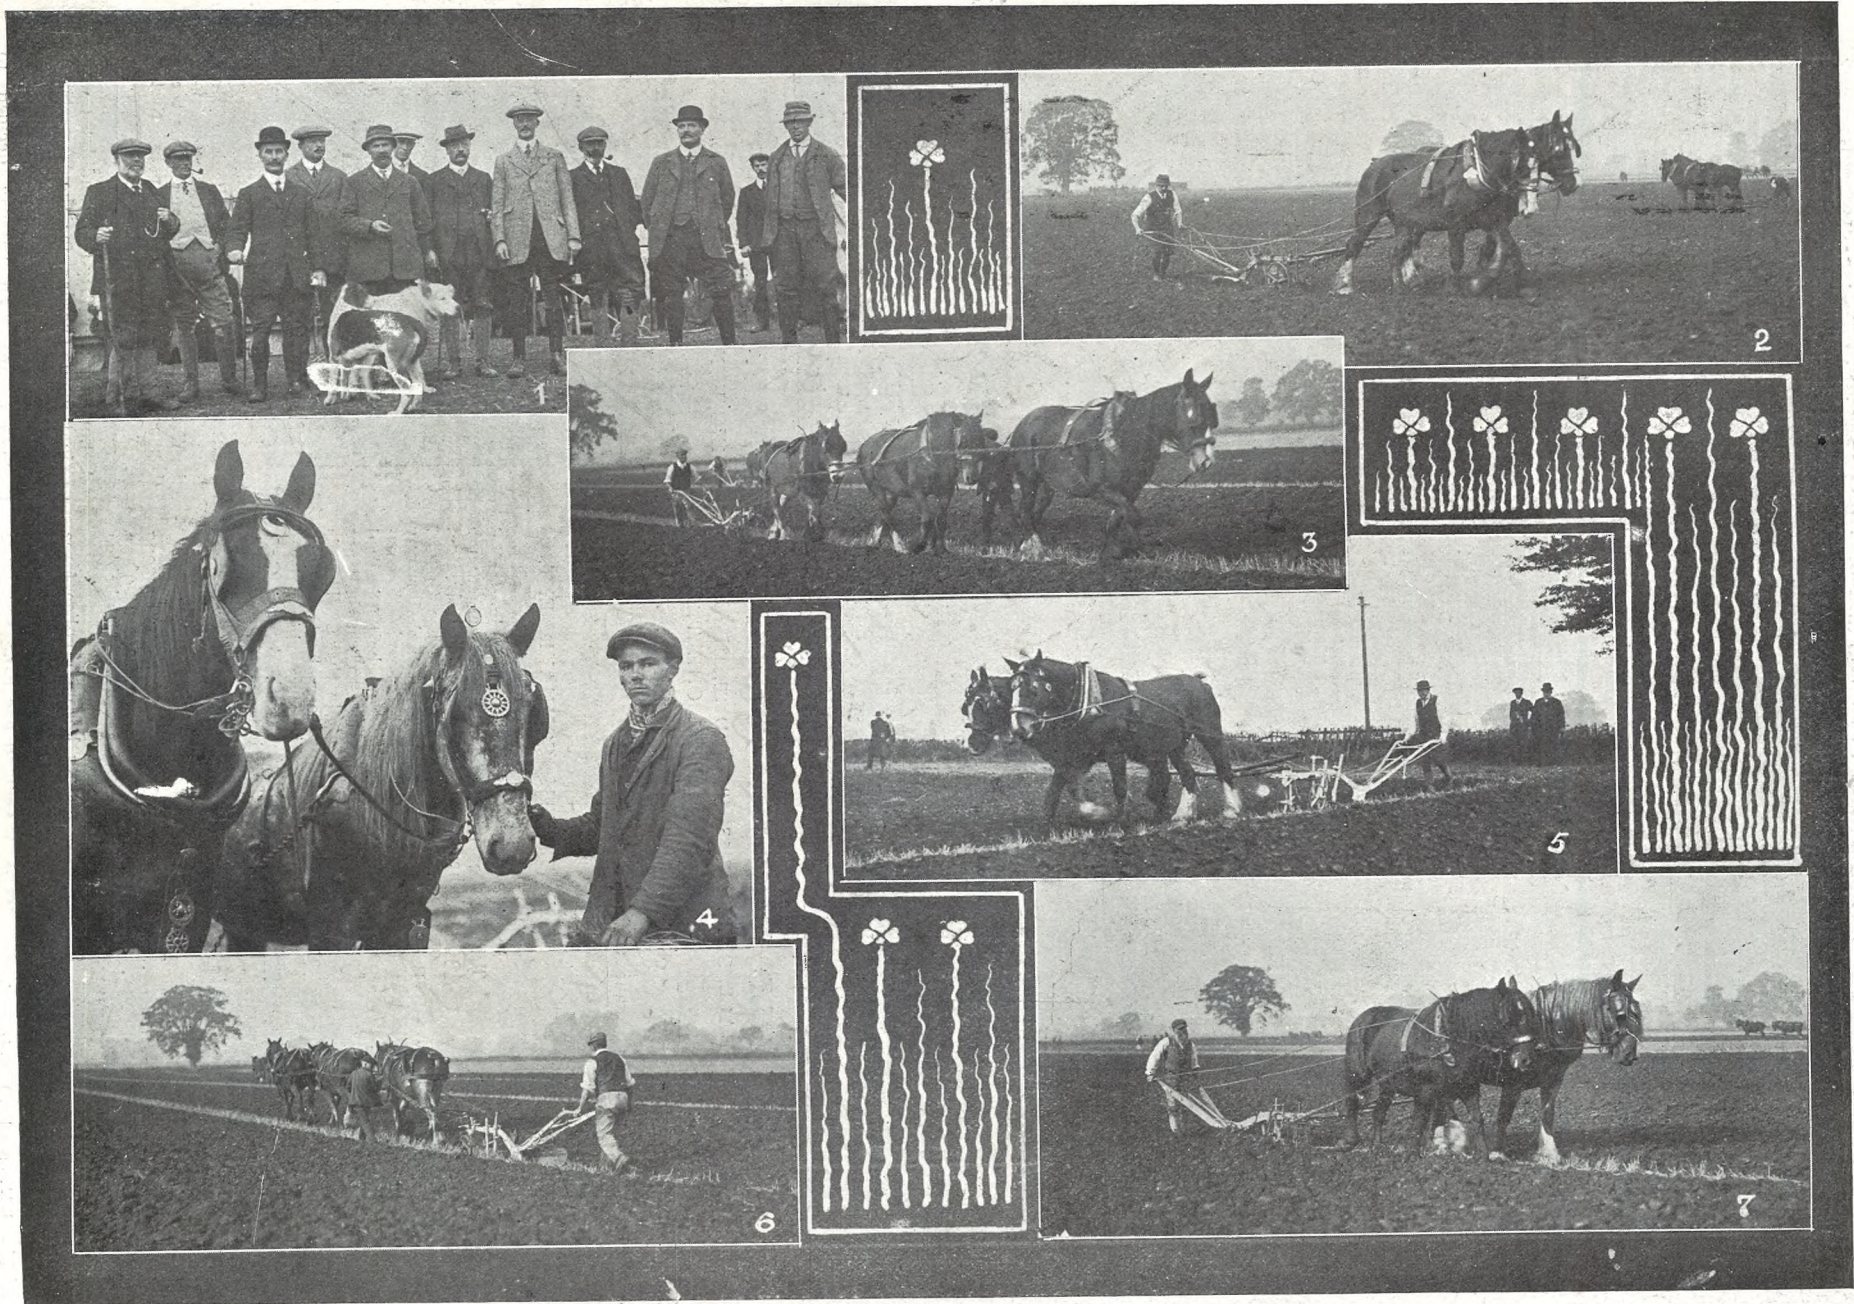

The growing devotion to amusement among all classes is given as the reason of a decreased attendance at the Cambridge University local lectures.

Southampton county borough police force it to be increased so as to allow each man one day off duty per week.

A PRETTY CHELTENHAM WEDDING.

At the Parish Church, Cheltenham, on Wednesday, Oct. 25, 1911, the wedding took place of Mr. Randolph F. Cornell, son of Mr. F. W. Cornell, of Manor House, Ashton-under-Hill, and Miss Winifred Annie Hopkins, eldest daughter of Supt. A. W. Hopkins, of Cheltenham, and for some years a nurse at Gloucester Royal Infirmary.

THE WEDDING GROUP.

Back row:—Mr. A. Hopkins, Mrs. A. Hopkins, Mr. F. Hopkins, Mr. F. W. Cornell.
 Middle row:—Mrs. and Supt. A. W. Hopkins (mother and father of bride).
 Front row:—Miss Irene Hopkins, the Bridegroom, the Bride, Miss Doris Hopkins. In front: Miss Vera Hopkins (bride's niece) and Leslie Hopkins. Below are the guests.

A GLOUCESTERSHIRE WEDDING IN SOUTH AFRICA

Mr. William Henry Jones, nephew of the late Ald. Lemuel Jones, of Tewkesbury, and Miss Beatrice Annie King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey King, of Tewkesbury, married at Capetown, Oct. 24, 1911.

THE TEETH OF THE POOR.

Broadly speaking, it is still true that the poor of this kingdom take little or no care of their mouths, and that dental caries and all its attendant evils are some of the principal causes of physical ill-health and inefficiency among the half-educated classes who constitute the great bulk of our population. It is no exaggeration to say that few missionary enterprises are more pregnant with health and happiness and more urgently required for the future well-being of the nation than that which aims at the total prevention of dental caries. That such a consummation is easily possible no one can doubt; that so little is being done to attain it everyone must regret. If preventable, why not prevented? is a question which at present can only be answered with the blush of shame. Posterity will surely indict us for our criminal failure, as a people, to realise our responsibilities and to rise to them.—"The Hospital."

THE SIAMESE CAT.

The Siamese cat is not half as widely known as he deserves to be. His charm rests on the quaint, and he certainly has a curiously striking appearance. Unlike most cats, he never varies in colour, save that, as the years roll on, his coat grows a darker shade. The mature Siamese cat in colour resembles a fawn pug dog, only his ears, muzzle, tail and legs are a rich shade of chocolate.

An odd thing about this breed is that, when born, the kittens are nearly white, and many an inexperienced fancier has had a shock when first peeping at a nest of young ones. The colour soon deepens, however, and at a year is very beautiful. After that the contrast between the fawn body colour and the chocolate points becomes less distinct.

This cat is supposed to come straight from the Royal palace of Siam, and, like the Pekinese spaniel or the pug, he has obtained a good deal of kudos from his aristocratic descent. A disputed point in connection with the breed is as to whether the tail should have a kink in it or not, but those who affirm the latter declare that they have the authority of the King of Siam for saying that the tail should be kink-less.—"The Weekly Telegraph."

PRISON FOR PARSONS.

"Why on earth would you put the parsons in jail?"

"Because the parsons ought to kape us out av war," said Andy. "It's their thrade. It's a dochtor's business to kape us in health. It's a parson's business to kape us from murdherin' each ither. If the parsons neglect their wurruk, I wud punish thim. I wudn't hang thim. I wud sind thim to jail. They cud help the politicians to ondhersan' the Christian religion."

"The jails would be full," said I.
"An' the graveyards wud be impty," said Andy.—James Douglas in "Ideas."
