DIAMOND WEDDING AT GLOUCESTER.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pittaway, of Gloucester, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding on Friday, July 12, 1912. For very many years the old couple carried on a bakery and confectionery business in the city, and they will be remembered the county through as having kept a gingerbread stall outside St. Michael's Church at the old Barton Fairs. They have now retired from business, and are receiving one of the pensions awarded by the Trustees of St. Bartholomew's Hospital in Westgate-street. In politics Mr. Pittaway is a staunch old "Jersey Blue," and he is known by that name among a large number of the citizens.

TO BUSINESS MEN.

Let us give you an inclusive estimate for taking a photograph of your premises or shop windows, making block therefrom, and printing it in the "Graphic," with a guaranteed circulation in Cheltenham and County of over 11,000 weekly.

Police-constable Berg, who was wounded last March by the man who made an attempt on the life of Mr. L. de Rothschild, was incapacitated from further service, and he has been retired by the corporation on a pension of his full pay, to which Messrs. Rothschild have made an appropriate addition.

Burton-on-Trent Town Council decided on Tuesday to present the Marquis of Anglesey, who is mayor, with the honorary freedom of the borough as a wedding gift. It will be engrossed on vellum and enclosed in a silver-gilt and enamel casket, which has been subscribed for by the town. This is the first occasion on which the freedom of the borough has been conferred on anyone.

On Monday afternoon, at the Bishop's Palace, Gloucester, Mr. A. Godfrey, who for the past three years has been a voluntary lay worker at All Saints' Church, Cheltenham, was licensed as a lay reader, under the Rev. Robert Hodson, to the parishes of Staverton-cum-Boddington and the Valley Mission.

A farmer who sued his son for threats at Cotehill Petty Sessions, complained that he was compelled by his wife to sleep in the hen-roost.

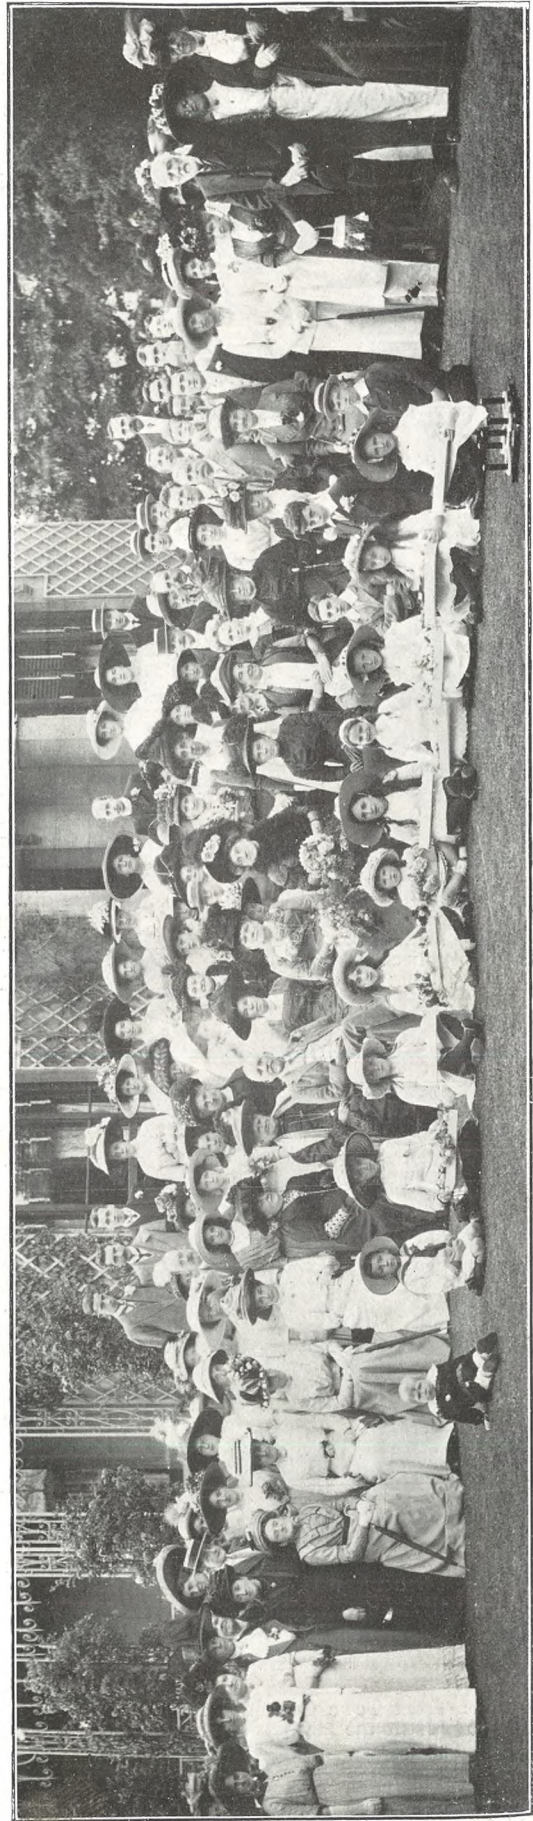

A party of Hunterscombe golfers had narrow escapes on Tuesday evening, when a motor-omnibus conveying them to Henley-on-Thames was practically destroyed by fire caused by overheating of a petrol tank.

THE GREAT CYCLONIC DISASTER IN REGINA, CANADA.

THESE PHOTOS, SHOWING TWO SCENES AFTER THE CYCLONE AT REGINA, CANADA, ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 30, WERE BROUGHT TO US BY MR. A. PALMER, OF BENTHAM, NEAR CHELTENHAM, WHO WAS IN THE TOWN WHEN IT OCCURRED, AND RETURNED TO BENTHAM THIS WEEK. IT DEVASTATED A GREAT PORTION OF THE TOWN, KILLING A NUMBER OF THE PEOPLE, AND OVERTURNING HOUSES, TREES, ELEVATORS, ETC., AS IF THEY WERE MATCHWOOD.

THE COTSWOLD HUNT PUPPY SHOW,

HELD AT THE KENNELS, WHADDON LANE, CHELTENHAM, JULY 18, 1912, BEFORE A LARGE CROWD OF SPECTATORS AND PUPPY WALKERS.

- 1.—Experts keenly interested in the judging.
- 2.—Sailor, the first prize dog hound, walked by Mr. J. Davis, of Badgeworth.
- 3.—Some of the company on the flags, Mr. Herbert Lord, the Master, in front (in black suit and white spate).
- 4.—Two of Mr. Curre's famous white hounds, now in the Cotswold Kennels; Poison, probably the best working hound in the Cotswold pack, is the one farthest from camera.
- 5.—Sanguine, the second prize bitch hound, walked by Mr. T. Corson, who many good judges thought ought to have had first prize; the judges themselves were not unanimous.
- 6.—Capt. Willes, hon. secretary of Hunt (on left) chatting to a friend.
- 7.—Watching the hounds in paddock.
- 8.—The four prize-winners, with their hounds and prizes:—From left: Mr. C. J. Chick, Mr. F. Newman, Mr. T. Corson, C. Beacham (huntsman), and Mr. J. Davis.
- 9.—Some of the beauties interested in strangers.
- 10.—Mr. C. Elwes, M.F.H., and Will Gilbert (two of the judges) have an argument; next them are J. Willis (huntsman of Cricklade) and Will Rawle (ex-huntsman).

CHELTENHAM POLICE AT PLAY.

The great day of the season in connection with Cheltenham Police Cricket Club was Wednesday, July 17th, 1912, when they entertained the B Division Birmingham Police at luncheon, tea, and cricket on the Victoria Ground, Cheltenham. Birmingham scored 197 runs for six wickets (declared), but could not get Cheltenham out in the time, they scoring 126 runs for eight wickets, the match being drawn.

- 1.—The Cheltenham Police Team and friends. Supt. Hopkins (president) in centre, Col. Chester Master (the Chief Constable of Gloucestershire) next him on left.
- 2.—Spectators.
- 3.—The Birmingham Police Team. Supt. Boulton in centre (in straw hat), Inspector Amphlett next him (to left).
- 4.—In front of members' pavilion:—Reading from left, in front are Ald. G. Norman, Mr. C. H. Margrett (Mayor of Cheltenham), Mr. E. J. Swift (Birmingham), Mr. W. H. Lamb, Supt. Sainsbury, Supt. Perkins (Dursley).
- 5.—Another view of members' pavilion.
- 6.—Mr. A. Sainsbury and Mr. D.C.C. Harrison (of Gloucester).
- 7.—Watching start of game: Mr. A. A. Winkley (seated in chair), Supt. Boulton (on left of him), and Supt. Hopkins (to right).
- 8.—Supt. Boulton Biggs, of Stroud, and Insp. Whyton watching the play.
- 9.—Part of the very large "gate." In front of grand stand.

GREAT FIRE AT GLOUCESTER.

ON TUESDAY NIGHT, JULY 23, 1912, ONE OF THE BIGGEST FIRES EVER SEEN IN GLOUCESTER TOOK PLACE, THE EXTENSIVE PREMISES OF MESSRS. J. A. MATTHEWS AND CO. IN HIGH ORCHARD AND LLANTHONY ROAD BEING GUTTED, COTTAGES IN HIGH ORCHARD, BOTH AT THE TOP END AND ON WESTERN SIDE BEING BURNT, AND MANY THOUSANDS OF POUNDS DAMAGE BEING DONE. NO PERSONAL INJURY WAS SUSTAINED BY ANYONE.

- 1.—View of the gutted works, looking towards Llanthony-road. It was somewhere here where the fire started.
- 2.—Looking towards top end of High Orchard. The cottages in the distance were all alight.
- 3.—Taken from one of the cottage windows at top of High Orchard. It was through the windows where fireman is working that the fire reached the cottages.
- 4.—Taken from end of works, looking towards Llanthony-road.
