GLOUCESTERSHIRE ROOT, FRUIT, AND GRAIN SOCIETY FIRST PRIZE FARM.

The results of the competition for the best cultivated and managed farms in this county for prizes given by the above Society are declared this morning, Mr. George Witcomb, of The Lodge Farm, Painswick, winning the first prize for farms over 200 acres. Mr. Witcomb won the same prize in 1920, and as winners are debarred for two years, it is a very creditable performance to win again, directly eligible, showing the farm has been kept up to a high state of cultivation.

- 1.—The farm house (part of which is believed to be fourteenth century), with Mr. and Mrs. Witcomb and family.
- 2.—Part of dairy herd in farmyard.
- 3.—Two-year-old bullocks fattening.
- 4.—Waiting to be milked.
- 5.—A beautiful old barn.
- 6.—A batch of yearling heifers.
- 7.—The stables. Other farm buildings in extreme distance.
- 8.—Three-year-old in-calf heifers.

ADVERTISE IN THE "ECHO."

PICTURESQUE GLOUCESTERSHIRE.—CRANHAM.

Cranham is a delightful old-world village, situated most picturesquely on the slopes of a deep valley to the north of the Gloucester-Painswick road, and about two miles from the latter. It is surrounded by woods, is off the main roads, and is very little visited.

1.—The church. It was almost entirely re-built in 1194-5, with the exception of the tower.

2.—The Vicarage adjoins the church, and is held at present by the Rev. H. R. Hanson, B.A.

3.—A view of part of the Village, showing the descent and ascent to be made.

4.—The lych-gate was built as a War Memorial to village soldiers lost in the Great War. The churchyard and its quaint yews are kept in very nice order.

"Cheltenham Chronicle" Photos. Copies 1s. 8d. each unmounted, 2s. 6d. mounted, postage extra.

CHELTENHAM CRICKET FESTIVAL.

The Cricket "Week" at Cheltenham was patronised this year by lovers of the game in quite old-fashioned style, the attendance for the three matches, v. Essex, Kent, and Middlesex, being within a few pounds of record; this despite the fact that in the two latter matches there was no "gate" on the third day. Unfortunately Gloucestershire lost all three matches. These photographs were taken on Saturday afternoon, the stand being quite full.

PRESTBURY SHOW.

Prestbury Show was held on Wednesday last on a new field near the Oaklands, and being favoured with fine weather, a tremendous crowd was present.

- 1.—Judging the children's pony class.
- 2.—Mr. Bob Eaton won the first and second prizes in open jumping. This horse took the second prize.
- 3.—A Section of the big crowd present.
- 4.—Taking it easy.
- 5.—Two little competitors in the best rider class. Miss Muir (on right) won first prize.
- 6.—Watching the ring competitions.
- 7.—Mr. W. F. Holman's hunter in open jumping class.

EAST GLOUCESTER CRICKET TEAM.

The most improved team in the county, many matches having been won this season in fine style.
 Standing—Rogers, W. H. Jessop, G. S. Wood, J. C. Gurney, R. W. Power, W. A. Perreau, A. S. Highly.
 Sitting—U. Cazenove, K. A. Woodward, W. Bell Haworth, E. R. Gurney.

Mr. Horace Fisher,

Of Hollinwood, Montpellier-terrace, Cheltenham, who died on Monday, August 20, aged 63 years. He had lived in Cheltenham for 33 years, residing respectively at Badgeworth Court, Ashley Manor, and afterwards at Glenure, Cirencester-road. His wife, daughter, and son pre-deceased him. He was a good all-round sportsman, an excellent shot and fisherman, fine billiards player, a golfer, and owner of steeplechase horses: and he was a prominent Freemason.

MRS. ELIZABETH COOKE,
Who died at Birmingham on August 11th. She was in her 89th year, and formerly resided at 28 Hatherley-street, Cheltenham. Mr. and Mrs. Cooke celebrated their diamond wedding four years ago, but Mr. Cooke, who was a well-known wheelchairman, died last Easter.

Mr. Theodore, the Queensland Treasurer, announcing his financial statement, said the Government proposed to impose a tax on bookmakers and to levy an impost on racecourse betting. He anticipated that they would yield this year from this source £25,000.
