Perfect Tone—Graceful Outline.
The STECK PIANO

is the realisation of your highest ideals in a Piano

ARTIST craftsmen of highest ability, whose training has created in them a loving care for the minutest details of construction, together with the scientific study of acoustics, have produced in the Steck a piano graceful in design, and possessing that fulness of tone which has placed the Steck amongst the few great pianos of international repute.

The Model illustrated is a magnificent specimen of Piano craft. Finely proportioned, it possesses the beautiful singing quality of tone, common to the whole range of Stecks. Moderate in price, it may be purchased on our deferred payment system.

Hear it in our Showrooms: it is the highest Piano value obtainable to-day

CHELTENHAM COLLEGE CROSS-COUNTRY RACE.

On Saturday last Cheltenham College held their annual cross-country race, in which the Cheltenham and County Harriers were again invited to compete. As in former years, the Harriers team won the competition, furnishing the first three men home.

- 1.—The start of the race. There were 137 Collegians, 22 Harriers, and two dogs; the latter completed the whole course, finishing very fresh.
- 2.—Denison, the first College boy home; he was fourth in race.
- 3.—The first four Collegians to finish: Denison, Bird (2nd) 6th in race, Lovegrove (3rd) 7th in race, and McCowen (4th) 8th in race.
- 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8.—College boys waiting to start.
- 9.—The Harriers lined up at the start.
- 10.—M. Gooch (C. and C.H.), first man home.

INDIAN POTENTATE IN CHELTENHAM.

On Monday last a noted Indian, His H.O.B. Highness the Rajah of Napoo, "arrived" at Cheltenham (from Malvern Road) in order to visit the Bazaar at the Town Hall in aid of the Children's Hospital. He was received by the "Mayor and Corporation" in mock solemnity, and inspected the guard of honour.

- 1.—The Indian Potentate (No. 2) after being received by the "Mayor" (?) (No. 1). The Harem is behind. The Mayoress is wearing a monocle; next the mace-bearer, who is "howd"-lerized.
- 2.—Some of the population.
- 3.—The "Mayor, Mayoress, and Town Council."
- 4.—The Guard of Honour.

AN INTERESTING EVENT.

The above picture will be of considerable interest in years to come, since it shows the crowd outside the Spa Radio Stores, Clarence Street, Cheltenham, on Friday, March 25th last, while the Grand National was being run. This was the first time a description had been broadcast while the race was actually in progress, and considerable interest was aroused. The Spa Radio Stores are comparatively new-comers to Cheltenham, but have made rapid headway, and the very latest and best in wireless (goods and advice) is always available from them.

Now on Sale.—Bound volumes of the "Gloucestershire Graphic" make a beautiful present, and one that will afford pleasure for years to come. Hundreds of pictures—thousands of faces of well-known people. A pictorial history of the county for 1926. Bound in cloth and half calf, with gold lettering, one guinea; cloth only, 12s. 6d. Picturesque Gloucestershire.

DURING the past four or five years we have published in the "Cheltenham Chronicle and Graphic" a series of Illustrations (all taken by our own photographer) of Views of this County, with curious and interesting archaeological studies, all selected with an eye to the picturesque. Gloucestershire is perhaps the most interesting and picturesque county in England, especially in regard to its domestic architecture; and it is probable that never has a county been so extensively illustrated, as we have covered the Northern part of Gloucestershire.

We have repeatedly been asked by our readers to publish this series of Illustrations in book form; and it is our intention to do so if there are a sufficient number of subscribers to warrant the expense, which is very considerable.

We propose to publish the book, well bound and splendidly printed on the best Art Paper, with no advertisements, there being about 200 pages. Size of book about 12in. by 9in.

The price will be One Guinea (£1 1s.). Up to the present (March, 1927) we have illustrated 115 Villages and Towns, with 170 separate blocks (mostly full-page Illustrations), and over 650 separate photos of places in this county.

It will be an unique and wonderful record of the county, both from an artistic, archaeological, and historical view. All the pictures have been selected with considerable discrimination, the artistic standpoint being considered always; and the beautiful type of Cotswold stone house has been wonderfully rendered throughout.

We would be grateful if our readers who intend to subscribe for this book would send us their names at once, as it will depend on the response to this notification as to whether it will be worth our while to publish.

The number will be limited, and the book should much increase in value in the future.

POLICE-SERGT. FREDK. E. WHITE, Who for the last five years has been in charge of Pittville Police Station, retired on pension on March 31st, aged 51 years. He was formerly at Lydney (five years), Coleford (eight years), and Tredworth (five years). He is going to live at Bishop's Cleeve.

PICTURESQUE GLOUCESTERSHIRE.—NEWENT.

Newent is a small market town nine miles from Gloucester, and on the confines of Herefordshire and Worcestershire. It had a charter for a market and two fairs as early as the reign of Henry III., which was renewed in the reign of Henry VIII., and James I. granted a new one. Rudder in his "History of Gloucestershire," published in 1779, says: "The roads in this part of the county are so intolerable that the writer found it necessary to desert his horse and to travel with a guide on foot from one village to another." He also says, "The town is very irregularly built, and though there are a few pretty good houses, the greater part are mean buildings."

1.—The old Market House from South East. It is an interesting example of timber work of the 16th Century. It was thoroughly restored in 1864 by the late Mr. R. F. Onslow.

3.—The Market House from the North side. It is a most picturesque building.

3.—A view from the arcading of the old Market House on a sunny morning.

4.—This house, now a tea gardens, was formerly the New Inn, but the license was taken under compensation recently.

An Interesting Painswick Wedding.

The marriage was solemnized at Painswick Church on Thursday, April 7th, of Mr. Arthur James Wakefield Willink and Miss Rachel Marian Tanner. Both bride and bridegroom are exceptionally popular in a wide circle, and there was a very large congregation. The bridegroom is the elder son of the Dean of Norwich and Mrs. Willink, and is himself a master at Cheltenham College and a popular member of the Cheltenham Amateur Operatic Society, while the bride is the younger daughter of the Rev. Maurice Tanner, formerly a master at Cheltenham College, and late of Eversley and Upton St. Leonards, and of Mrs. Tanner, of Christowe, Painswick. The wedded pair with the three little bridesmaids, Veronica Champain, Penelope Alington, and Rosemary Horton.

CHELTENHAM v. LLANELLY AT RUGBY FOOTBALL.

The biggest crowd seen on Cheltenham ground for some years watched the above match, as special excursions were arranged from Llanelly, and about 3,000 followers made a day of it, three special through trains arriving. The Railway Company issued tickets at 6s. return. Llanelly were too strong for Cheltenham, and won by four goals two tries (26pts.) to nil.

- 1.—A section of the crowd on sixpenny side.
- 2.—The Cheltenham team. From left: Elliott, B. Bloodworth, R. Brewster, J. Hobbs, G. E. Vaughan, G. B. Stephens, C. James, W. Watson, H. Gorings, N. Shelley, W. Hart (capt.), F. Fletcher, T. Harry, D. Stayte.
- 3 and 6.—Sections of the big crowd present.
- 4.—Stephens coming through as a Llanelly player kicks to touch.
- 5.—How the Llanelly followers patrolled High-street. Most of them wore scarlet caps (the Llanelly colours).
- 7.—An intrepid climber fastened a saucepan to the top of goal-posts.
- 8.—A fine round of passing by the visitors.

PICTURESQUE GLOUCESTERSHIRE.—NEWENT.

Newent appears to have been a place of considerable importance in former days, having been a borough town and governed by a bailiff. It has two main streets, containing many well-built houses and some good shops. The Church of St. Mary the Virgin is a handsome structure, originally erected in the middle of the 14th century, and contains many ancient and interesting memorials. On January 18th, 1673, the nave roof, owing to a heavy fall of snow, collapsed at midnight, and was rebuilt six years later with eighty tons of timber from Newent Wood, the gift of King Charles II. The whole has been considerably restored.

- 5.—Newent Church, from Churchyard.
- 6.—An old house in main street. Part of it is used as a Parish Room.
- 7.—Old houses opposite the Black Dog.
- 8.—An old house at the corner of the Market Square. It has been considerably altered in the last 25 years.

CRYPT GRAMMAR SCHOOL, GLOUCESTER, ANNUAL ATHLETIC SPORTS.

These Sports were held in stormy weather on Thursday, April 7th, before a capital crowd of parents and friends.

- 1.—The start of Open 880 Yards Race, won by Storrie.
- 2.—The Junior Obstacle Race. It is run in pairs. Each has to help the other over.
- 3.—W. Hoare passing baton to R. A. Smith in Open Relay Race.
- 4.—The winning Relay Team (under 15).
- 5.—Mr. D. G. Williams (Headmaster) on right.
- 6 and 9.—Boys watching the sports.
- 7.—J. H. Storrie winning Open 100 Yards.
- 8.—A desperate finish in 880 Yards Open, won by Storrie (left).
- 10.—"East" winning final of Tug-of-War.

INTERESTING CHELTENHAM WEDDING.

The wedding took place at St. Luke's Church, Cheltenham, on Saturday last, April 9th, of Mr. Clement P. E. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, of Ebley, near Stroud, and formerly of Cheltenham, to Miss Gladys E. M. Dicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Dicks, of Buckingham Lawn, Cheltenham. The bride's father is well known as organist of the church, a Professor of Music, and composer of many works.

- 1.—The Bride arriving with her father.
- 2.—The wedding party leaving the church, the bride and bridegroom in front.

OPENING OF NEW ARTERIAL ROAD IN GLOUCESTER.

On Tuesday last the Mayoress of Gloucester cut a ribbon stretched across the New Road from Stroud Road to the Cemetery and declared it open. It has cost over £19,000, and is the first section of a by-pass or ring road from the Bristol Road to London Road, to save heavy traffic passing through the City.

- 1.—Ald. Estcourt making the opening speech.
- 2.—The Mayoress cutting up the ribbon as souvenirs.
- 3.—The Mayoress cuts tape and declares the road open.
- 4.—Some of the spectators; Mrs. Beale in wheelchair with relatives.

EIGHTY TO-DAY.
Alderman James Stewart, of Cheltenham, who to-day celebrates his 80th birthday, and to whom, with all our readers, we join in wishing "Many happy returns." He is here shown with his new Austin car, which he has learnt to drive recently, and he still takes his early morning swim in the open air baths, as he has done all through the winter. He seems to be growing younger, and doesn't look sixty.

OPENING OF NEW PAROCHIAL HALL AT CHARLTON KINGS.

Owing to the beneficent gifts of Lady Dixon-Hartland, that lady was enabled to open on Tuesday last the new Church Hall at Charlton Kings. Formerly the Vestry Hall, it passed out of Church hands, but in July, 1925, it was bought from the Overseers, the money being found by Lady Dixon-Hartland, who also subscribed £625 towards the cost of alterations. 5.—The new Hall, after the alterations.

CHELTENHAM v. GLOUCESTER AT RUGBY FOOTBALL.

A match arranged for the benefit of the Cheltenham General Hospital Extension Fund was played on the Athletic Ground, Cheltenham, on Saturday, between the Cheltenham and Gloucester teams. There was a capital attendance and the Hospital will benefit by over £62. Cheltenham played like a tired team, and were hopelessly and unexpectedly beaten by 3 goals 5 tries (30 points) to nil.

- 1.—A rush by Gloucester forwards in mid-field.
- 2.—The new stand on the popular side was full.
- 3.—Dad looks like a kangaroo. He was sheltering the youngster from the rain.

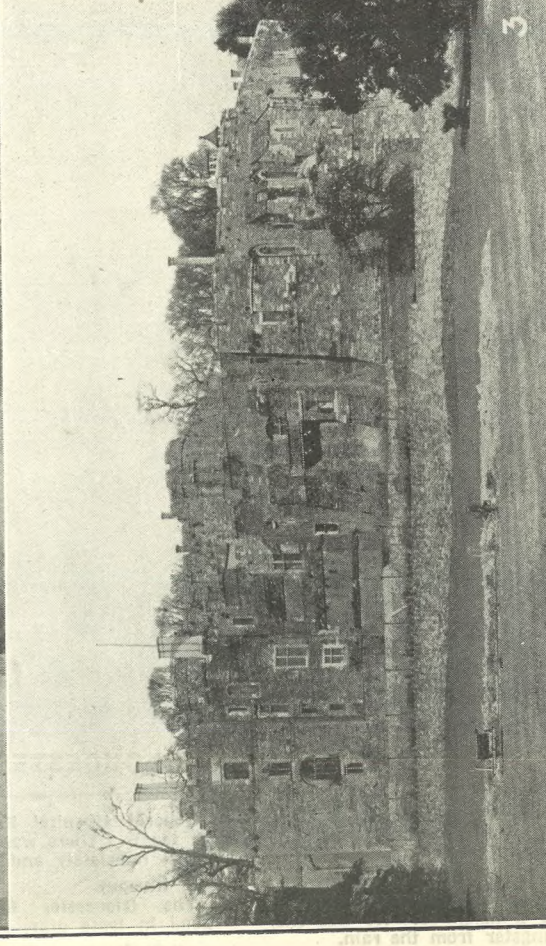

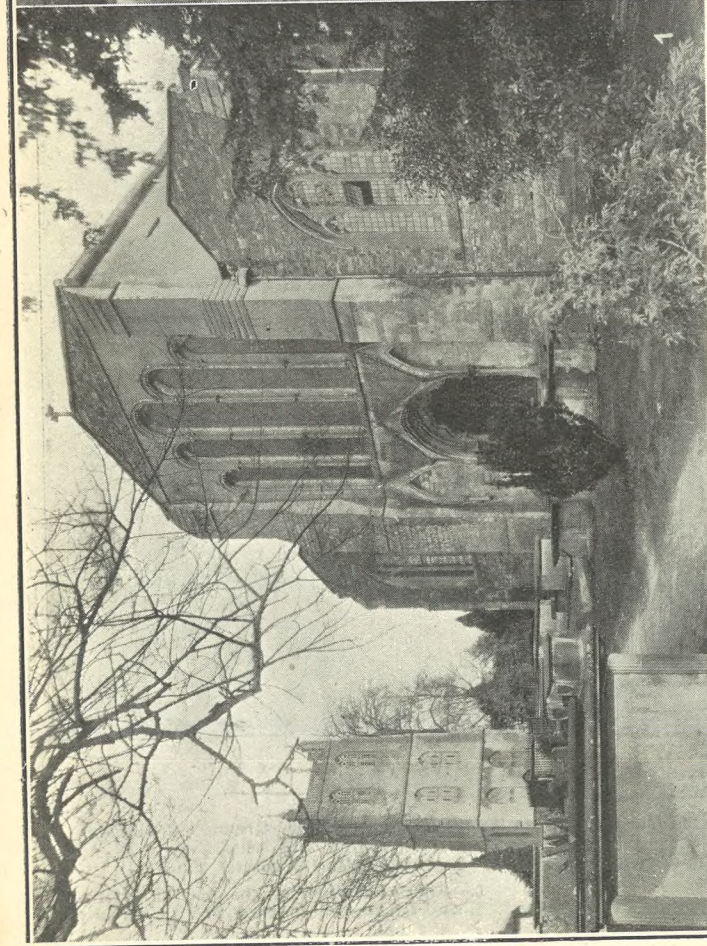

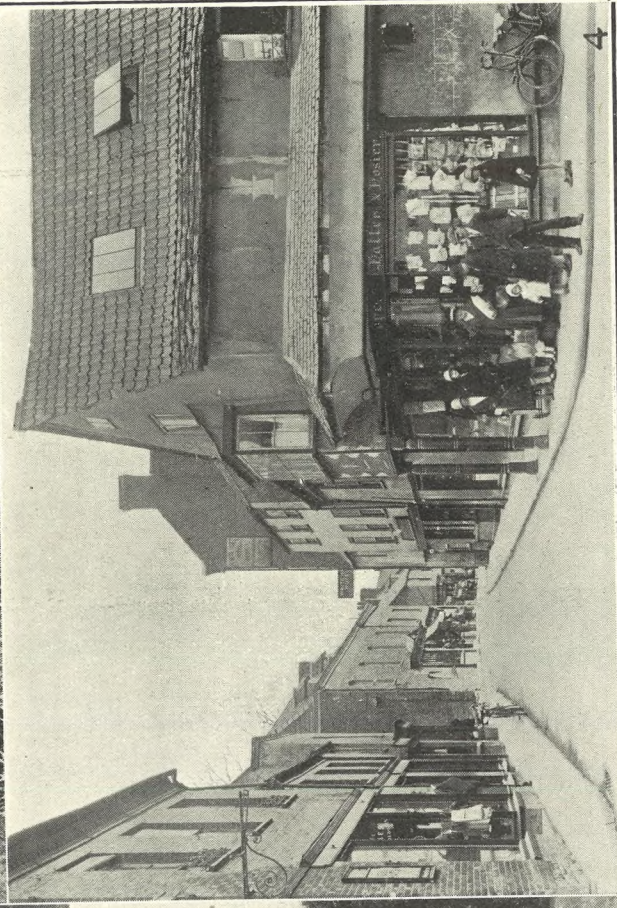

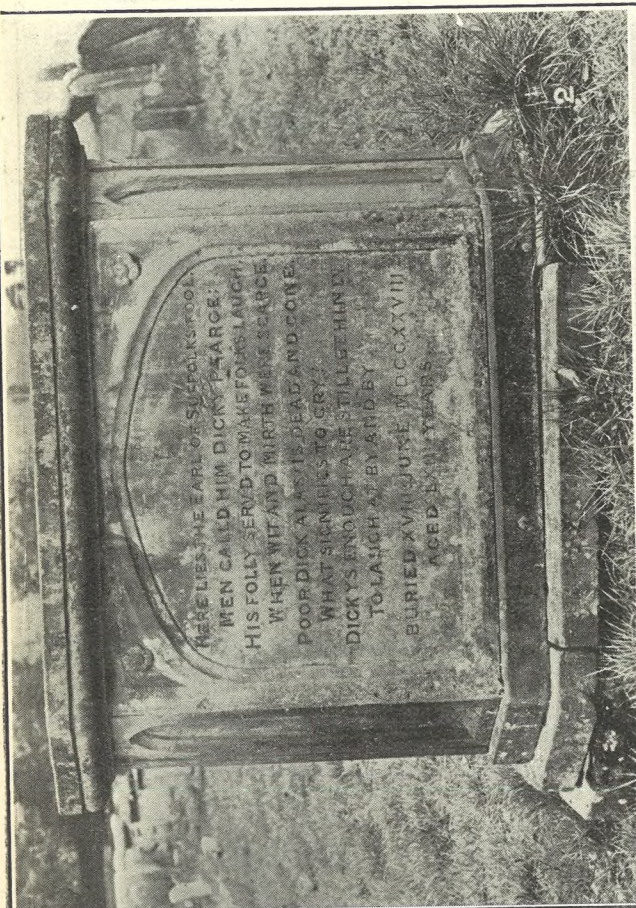

4.—A line-out.

5.—The Gloucester forwards were very good in loose play.

PICTURESQUE GLOUCESTERSHIRE.—BERKELEY. Its great glory is the Castle, which is one of the most ancient and interesting feudal fortresses yet remaining in England. The manor embraces nearly 30 parishes, and was granted by Henry II., on his accession in 1154, to Robert Fitzhardinge, a wealthy citizen of Bristol, who took the title of Baron de Berkeley. The Castle was built by him and Henry II., and has remained in the possession of his descendants to the present time. It was in this Castle that King Edward II. was murdered by his keepers, Sir Thos. Gournay and Lord Matravers, on Sept. 21, 1307. 1.—The Church is very interesting, and is shown. 2.—An interesting monument in the Churchyard to the Earl of Suffolk's fool. 3.—General view of the Castle from meadows. 4.—Old houses at the Cross in Berkeley. The town itself is uninteresting.

It is of great extent, but is exclusively Berkeley. Copies 1s. 9d. each, postage 2d.

TAILORMADES.

WHEN a Lady wears a Tailor-made by Vanderplank she is conscious at once of quality. Not quality in Material alone, but throughout. There's no detail of a Vanderplank garment—no matter what its price—and some are quite inexpensive—but carries the hallmark of true Craftsmanship in Tailoring—just that little extra style that makes all the difference.

In the wide Vanderplank range are Suits and Coats for all occasions—"ready for service," yet even finer Tailored than those made to measure. There is one to suit you at the price you wish to pay.

A Beige and Brown Check Suiting Coat, perfectly tailored, is trimmed Collar and Belt of a plain darker cloth, has half belt and pleats at sides, and is half lined. It is one of a great number of styles in our 59/11 collection at..... S.W. and W. sizes. Similar Model with new Calf Skin trimming.

Striped Navy Men's Suiting in man-fitting style, with link button. An ideal Suit worn with new waistcoat. Trimmed with Braid, lined Zyrian, and the skirt has two inverted Pleats in front. It is a much favoured Model this Spring Price, 5 Gns. S.W. and W, fitting. Also obtainable in fine suiting.
