THE RECORD OF THE OMEGA WATCH IS COMPARABLE TO THE FAME OF THE TIME BALL AT GREENWICH.

An Omega Watch is a small gift but a big gesture. It shows so plainly that the giver's heart is in the giving; just as men's hearts were in it when they made it—A MARVEL OF ACCURACY. And it is not a costly one, but it is the kind of gift that stands out among much bigger and costlier presents. The temptation to buy a watch from unknown makers, because it is cheap, always results in great disappointment; but in giving a Waite and Son Watch you make a gift that is not only acceptable, but above all serviceable. Will you call and see our Special Display of Omega Watches, or write for the very interesting Booklet?

VISIT OF H.R.H. PRINCESS MARY TO CHELTHENHAM LADIES' COLLEGE.

Friday, June 13th, was a red letter day in the history of Cheltenham Ladies' College, when Princess Mary, Countess of Harewood, paid a private visit and thoroughly inspected the normal life and working of the College. She was received in the big quadrangle by the Principal (Miss B. M. Sparks, M.A.) and the College Council, and all the staff and pupils were massed on the terraces. An address was read to her by Miss Sparks, the National Anthem was sung by the pupils, and she then proceeded to walk round the College.

1.—The Princess in the Quadrangle. From left are Miss Dorothy Yorke (Lady-in-Waiting), Lord Apsley, Princess Mary, Miss B. M. Sparks, Lady Amphill, The Lord Bishop of Gloucester, Mr. F. B. de Saumarez (behind) Sir Francis Colchester-Wemyss, Miss F. C. Ker, Mrs. M. Tanner Mr. W. FitzHerbert, Mr. W. N. Weech.

VISIT OF H.R.H. PRINCESS MARY TO CHELTHENHAM LADIES' COLLEGE.

The Princess was very interested in the work of the College, and especially in the Kindergarten department, which she was loth to leave. She spent nearly two hours in the College and took tea with the Principal, Council, and Mayor and Mayoress before her departure. She was very charming to the girls, and spoke to a great many of them, and her visit is looked back upon with great pleasure.

3 and 4.—The pupils of the College were massed on the lower lawn before the arrival of the Princess, and on her entry into the College buildings all took their places in the College.

5.—The Kindergarten children, a delightful group seated awaiting the arrival of the Princess.

6.—The pupils giving three cheers for the Princess and waving their hats.

PICTURESQUE GLOUCESTERSHIRE—COLIN ST. ALDWYNS
 Samuel Rudder, writing in 1779, calls this village "Coln St. Alwin's," and says "it takes its name from the river and from St. Alwin, to whom the church was originally dedicated. He was tutor to Charles the Great, and famous for his skill in disputation." He says the Coln runs "reluctantly through this parish, and the trout grows in it to a good size." The church is an interesting one and most pleasantly situated in a beautiful and well-kept churchyard, adjoining which is the lovely old manor house, occupied by Lady St. Aldwyn. The tower of the church was built by Abbot Gamages, the initials of his name, "I.G.," are over the East door, with his coat of arms.

A DEMONSTRATION OF PRATTS' ETHYL PETROL IN CHELTHENHAM.

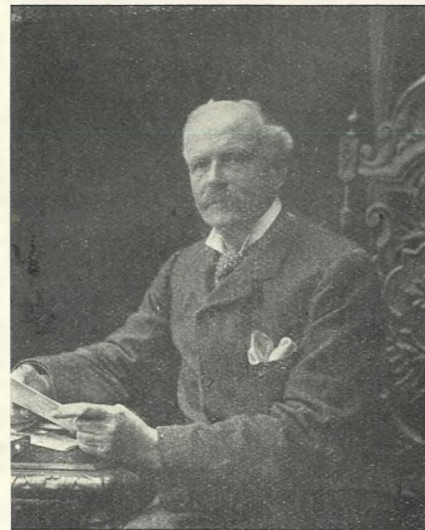

A clever demonstration of the increased power value of Ethyl Petrol over ordinary "No. 1" Spirit was given in Cheltenham on Wednesday last. A portable testing engine was used, with gauges on an instrument board registering the comparative horse-power development, and the enormous advantages in using Ethyl Petrol were clearly shown. A number of local motorists are seen witnessing the demonstration.

NEW REREDOS AT ETON COLLEGE MISSION CHURCH.

The dedication of the new Reredos at St. Mary's, Hackney Wick (the Eton College Mission Church), took place at 5 p.m. on Saturday last, this being the Jubilee of the Eton Mission. The ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of Capetown, assisted by the Bishop of Salisbury, the Bishop of Stepney, and the Bishop of Narsik. The distinguished company included the Headmaster and Provost of Eton College. The Architect was Mr. W. E. Ellery Anderson, of Cheltenham, and the whole of the work was entrusted to Messrs. R. L. Boulton and Sons, also of Cheltenham.

Mr. W. Ellery Anderson introducing Mr. W. S. F. Harris (partner in Messrs. R. L. Boulton and Sons) to the Bishop of Salisbury. Both the architect and Mr. Harris received many congratulations on the conception and carrying out of the whole scheme.

The new Reredos, which is over fourteen feet long, is based on traditional examples, constructed entirely of oak, the frame serving as a background to a series of carved and decorated panels, which represent scenes in the life of St. Mary, to whom the Church is dedicated. Reading from left to right, the scenes are: The Annunciation; The Visitation of Our Lady to Elizabeth; The Nativity of Our Lord; The visit of the wise men; The body of Our Lord in His mother's arms after the Crucifixion. At the base of the trail, at the South side, is a shield bearing the arms of the See of Capetown, and, opposite this, one bearing the arms of Eton College. Above the trail, and running the whole length of the Reredos, is an elaborate carved cresting carrying the arms of the Sees of Canterbury, York, London, and Salisbury, and of King's College, Cambridge, the sister foundation of Eton; while in the centre and at the foot of the Cross is the Agnus Dei. The inscription translated into Latin by the Provost of Eton reads as follows: "This Reredos is erected to the greater glory of God to commemorate fifty years' work by the Eton Mission, 1880-1930." Above the Reredos stands a large carved figure of Our Lord upon the Cross, represented, not in agony, but with arms outstretched inviting all people to Him. On either side of this are the figures of St. Mary and St. John. The whole of the work has been designed with the idea of carrying forward mediæval practice.

CHELTENHAM COLLEGE SPEECH DAY

Speech Day at the College was held on Friday, June 20th, and was quite as much a Society function as ever. The weather was fine and a large crowd was present at the garden party on the College playground in the afternoon. Owing to the indisposition of Lord Dawson of Penn, Mr. Frank Fletcher, headmaster of Charterhouse, presented the prizes.

- 1.—Many of the ladies present were wearing the new fashionable long frocks.
- 2.—Mr. Frank Fletcher and Mr. H. H. Hardy, the headmaster.
- 3.—T. A. Higson, the College cricket captain, with his mother.
- 4.—A pupil showing his family round.
- 5.—Lord Lee of Fareham (President of Council), Brigadier-General Peebles, and Mr. E. de S. H. Browne (members of Council).

CHELTENHAM COLLEGE SPEECH DAY

It was curious to see the varied style of ladies' dresses in the parade at the Garden Party, about half wearing the new fashionable long dresses, while the others wore the short ones. It is ferretly to be hoped the latter and rational style will keep their hold in the ladies' favour.

THE ART OF TABLE DECORATION.

The appearance of a well-arranged Flower Vase is a wonderful addition to any room: it gives tone and colour, and is an added charm to the house.

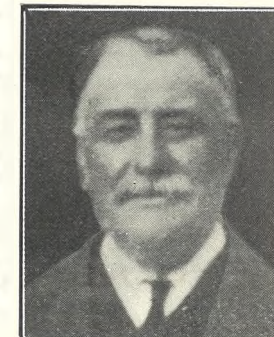

But the most delightful of flowers require a suitable Vase or combination of Vases to make the arrangement pleasing to the eye. We have some artistic Table Centres, which are inexpensive yet very effective.

FOR YOUR SWEET PEAS.
