A FAMOUS CHELTENHAM HOUSE

No. 1.—A corner of the delightful grounds as seen from the windows.

No. 2.—The House. Its outlook on to the lawns and ornamental lake is particularly attractive.

Karenza, off Bath Road, for long the residence of the late Mr. Wm. Morgan, and since his death occupied by Admiral F. A. Marten, C.B., M.F.H., and Mrs. Marten, has recently changed hands and is now offered for sale with the main part of the pleasure grounds.

Karenza is a delightful residential freehold property situate near the Gentlemen's College, standing on sandy soil in charming, park-like, yet inexpensive, Pleasure Grounds (about 2 1/4 acres), with Tennis Lawns, Rock Gardens, aviary, beautiful miniature Lake, etc. The small mansion, partly stone-built, is splendidly planned and appointed on two floors only, and comprises a magnificent suite of four handsome Reception Rooms, including a lovely oak panelled Lounge, with leaded casement windows, six principal Bed and Dressing Rooms, nearly all of which have a south aspect, four Bath Rooms, one entirely electric, central heating throughout, and generally the Residence is in exceptionally good condition, and replete with every modern convenience. There is an excellent Conservatory, Greenhouse, large Workshop, Garage, and a capital Cottage. This Property, without doubt the most attractive of its kind available in Cheltenham or district, can be purchased at a temptingly low price. Considerable additional land, with a second Cottage, is available if required. Full particulars of the sole agent, W. H. Horsley, 37, Promenade, Cheltenham.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF FREEMASONS AT CHELTENHAM COLLEGE

SUDELEY CASTLE CHRISTENING

The first heir born at Sudeley Castle since the Civil War was christened in the Chapel of Ease attached to the Castle, on Sunday. He is the son of Major J. H. and Mrs. Dent-Brocklehurst. Here are his mother, his father standing behind with his grandfather (Mr. H. Dent-Brocklehurst), and his two sisters are sitting with their mother.

TEWKESBURY CHARTER DAY CELEBRATION

July 13th is the anniversary of the granting of the borough's last and most important charter, given by King William in 1698, and on Wednesday last this fact was celebrated by the Mayor and Corporation perambulating the borough boundary.

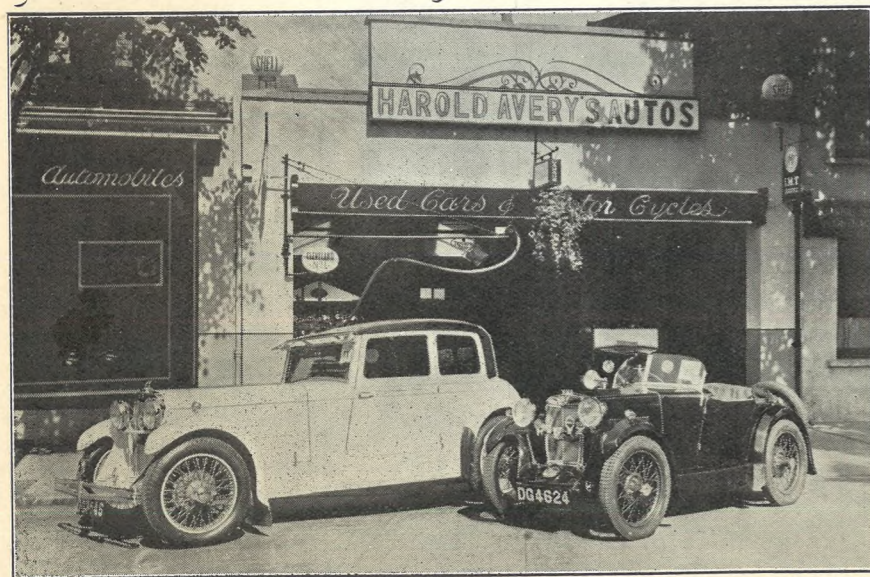

1.—The Town Clerk reading out the clause in the charter; the Mayor standing by him. On right is the commemoration stone erected in the Vineyards, on the site of Holme Castle.

2.—The ceremony in the Vineyards; the Abbey tower in background.

3.—Some of the spectators at the ceremony.

4.—Ladies in old world dresses who joined the procession.

INTERESTING WEDDING IN GLOUCESTER

The bridal couple leaving church at the wedding of Mr. W. Kenneth Wilson, son of late Dr. and Mrs. John Wilson, of Cheltenham, to Miss Marjorie J. Smart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Smart, of 81 Northgate-street, Gloucester. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. E. C. Hanson, at St. Catherine's, Gloucester. The bridegroom is on the staff of Lloyds Bank, Cheltenham, is a nephew of Mr. Gilbert Jessop, the great cricketer, and is himself a Cheltenham and County Hockey player.

THE GREAT BRIDGFORD TRAIN DISASTER

The above photograph is of a Cheltenham and Gloucester Building Society Home Safe which was retrieved from the wreckage of this accident on June 17 last. It was the property of the seven-months-old boy J. H. MacLeay, who was saved, but whose parents were both killed, and £20,000 payable under the Daily Mail Insurance scheme will be applied for the infant's benefit. Although the cover of the safe was materially damaged the metal work was intact and still securely locked. It has now been opened and cash placed to his deposit account in the usual way.

WHAT TREE IS THIS? No. 6. See Page 5 Main Sheet of "Chronicle."

PROPERTY AND LAND FOR SAFE INVESTMENT

In times of severe financial stress the value of Real Property is not liable to the violent fluctuations which frequently occur in Stocks and Shares. On the contrary if judiciously purchased in selected areas, it maintains a comparative stability in value unattainable in any other form of investment and remains always a tangible security realisable at will, in the meantime yielding varying rates of interest according to the nature of the holding. Below are offered investments which may now be secured at attractive prices.

BISHOP OF CLIFTON IN CHELTENHAM

The Right Rev. William Lee, D.D., Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Clifton paid his first official visit to Cheltenham during the week-end. On Sunday he confirmed over 200 new members of the Church at St. Gregory's, and made his official inspection of the church. A reception was held at the Town Hall on Monday night in his honour. He is standing with Rev. J. A. Coughlin (left) and Rev. D. J. McHugh (right), both of St. Gregory's.

REV. T. H. CAVE-MOYLE MEMORIAL

A beautiful little Lady Chapel has been dedicated at St. Paul's Church, Cheltenham, to the memory of the late Rev. Thomas Henry Cave-Moyle, who was for many years vicar of St. Paul's. The East End of the Chapel has a very fine picture immediately above the Altar Table, which is surrounded by rich oak panelling bearing the Arms of the Gloucester and Canterbury Dioceses—these are carved and decorated. The North and South sides and the ceiling are also panelled in oak, whilst at the entrance to the Chapel are very appropriate oak Communion Rails. The whole of the Chapel is illuminated by hidden lights. The work has been carried out by Messrs. R. L. Boulton and Sons, sculptors, of Bath Road, Cheltenham, to the design of Mr. W. E. Ellery Anderson, architect, of Bath Chambers, Cheltenham.

PROPERTY AND LAND FOR SAFE INVESTMENT

The pronouncement in our last week's issue as to the advantage of real property investments aroused considerable interest, and no apology is necessary for reiterating our chief points.

In times of severe financial stress the value of Real Property is not liable to the violent fluctuations which frequently occur in Stocks and Shares. On the contrary if judiciously purchased in selected areas, it maintains a comparative stability in value unattainable in any other form of investment and remains always a tangible and realisable security, in the meantime yielding varying rates of interest according to the nature of the holding. Below are offered investments which may now be secured at attractive prices.
