PICTURESQUE GLOUCESTERSHIRE.—APPERLEY

Apperley is a large hamlet in the parish of Deerhurst, situate about 1½ miles south of it and on the east bank of the Severn. Its proximity to the river is responsible for some parts being liable to inundation. There are many fine old half-timbered houses and cottages. The Manor of Apperley anciently belonged to the Abbey of Westminster, until the Dissolution, when it was granted to the Dean and Chapter.

- 1.—This old house belongs to the basket-makers of the hamlet. Baskets have been made here by generations of the same family.
- 2.—A fine old thatched cottage with a well-kept and pretty garden.
- 3.—Curious old houses on Apperley Court estate. They have been provided with modern roofs.
- 4.—Apperley Court, the residence of Mr. A. Strickland, who is lord of the manor.

OVERBURY FLOWER SHOW AND SPORTS

A large crowd enjoyed the sports and competitions run in conjunction with the annual flower show at Overbury on Saturday last. 1.—Mr. R. Holland-Martin judging a competition. 2.—A competitor in the pillow fight "lands a good one." 3.—A jolly party at tea. 4.—Young competitors lined up for a sack race. "Cheltenham Chronicle" Photographs. Copies 1s. and 1s. 9d. each.

CELEBRATED GOLFERS AT STINCHCOMBE

Large crowds witnessed some interesting exhibition matches on Stinchcombe Golf Course on Monday. Miss Diana Fishwick (English Champion), Mrs. Percy Garon (German Open Champion), Lord Westmorland and the Duke of Beaufort were the principal players. A number of Gloucestershire hospitals will benefit from the gate receipts. 1.—The gallery watching Lord Westmorland putting. 2.—Mrs. Percy Garon, Lord Westmorland, Miss Diana Fishwick and the Duke of Beaufort. 3.—Captain and Mrs. A. G. Holloway (left), with friends, watching the play.

WEDDING OF CAPTAIN C. E. FIRTH

Many guests were present at the wedding at Daglingworth Church of Capt. C. E. Firth to Miss M. K. Fraser. Capt. Firth captained the Cheltenham Rugby Football Club last season. 1 and 4.—Some of the guests. 2.—The four bridesmaids in the vicarage garden after leaving the church. 3.—Rev. H. V. Hodson, of Northleach, who officiated, and Mrs. Hodson (light coat) entering the church. "Cheltenham Chronicle" Photographs. Copies 1s. and 1s. 9d. each.

GLOUCESTER RUGBY FOOTBALL STAND BURNT DOWN

On Saturday afternoon last dramatic scenes, which might easily have proved disastrous, were witnessed on the Kingsholm Football Ground, when the big new stand on the east side caught fire and was destroyed in half-an-hour. Adjoining the stand was pitched the big tent of Mr. Bertram Mills' Circus as well as the cages containing the performing animals. The animals were hurriedly moved into neighbouring roads, the elephants to St. Catherine's Meadow, and the circus tent was saved by the Fire Brigade. The fire in progress; and inset, firemen playing on the gutted stand.

OLD COUNTRY BANKNOTES

In the old days many small country towns had private banks which issued their own notes, and Mr. Charles C. Castle, auctioneer, of Cheltenham and Winchcombe, has shown us two specimens (one of which is reproduced above) issued by the Winchcombe Bank (Fisher and Ashmore), in February, 1816. The firm ceased business in 1819. Mr. Castle's family connection with Winchcombe goes back for generations, and these notes were originally the property of his grandfather, John Castle, who died at the venerable age of 96. He gave Mrs. Dent much valuable information in regard to bygone days in the ancient town when that lady was collecting material for her book, "Annals of Winchcombe and Sudeley." Mr. Richard Castle, son of John and father of Mr. Charles C. Castle, contributed several things to Mrs. Dent's collection, including a grandfather clock from Hailes Abbey, which was brought to Winchcombe in 1800.

IMPORTANT FILM “SHOT” IN THE COTSWOLDS

Exterior pictures for a new sound film of Warwick Deeping's book "Sorrrell and Son" have been shot in the Cotswolds during the past few days. These most interesting and novel scenes have taken place, both day and night, at Broadway, Chipping Campden and district. The Lygon Arms, Broadway, which becomes "The Pelican" of the story, has been the centre of the proceedings. Sorrell, head porter of the inn, has been played by the film star, Mr. H. B. Warner, and an army of screen notabilities and assistants have taken part.

- 1.—The artistic scene at night, as the Lygon Arms is lit up by strong arc lights, when the filming of incidents at the door of the inn takes place.
- 2.—Mr. J. Kelley (assistant director), Mr. H. B. Warner, and Mr. Jack Raymond (director of film).
- 3.—Some delightful Chipping Campden children with their donkeys join the crowd during filming operations.

BRILLIANT WEDDING RECEPTION AT ROSSLEY MANOR COUNTRY CLUB

One of the most charming Cheltenham weddings of the year took place at St. Mary's, Charlton Kings, on Saturday last, when Mr. Donald Burt, of Barton-under-Needwood, Burton-on-Trent, was married to Miss Una Grace Milne, of Ashchurch House, Tewkesbury, and of Rossley Gate, Rossley Manor, near Cheltenham. The reception at Rossley Manor was attended by over 450 guests.

- 1.—The bridal party. There were eight bridesmaids with attendant ushers. The wedding gown was designed by Paul Poirer and executed with the bridesmaids dresses in Florabel's workroom.
- 2.—Two of the guests have a chat and smoke.
- 3.—The bridegroom's father and mother.
- 4.—Mr. O. T. Mence and Mrs. Hilton Price.
- 5.—Mrs. Milne, the bride's mother (x), receiving her guests.
- 6.—Gentlemen sounding hunting horns as the wedded couple started for honeymoon.

DOWDESWELL RESERVOIR IN THE DROUGHT

The condition of Dowdeswell Reservoir, which supplies Cheltenham with water from the Cotswolds, presents a very unfamiliar spectacle, owing to the long-continued drought. Only a trickle of water was flowing into the reservoir on Friday last, and it was lower than for many years, as can be seen from our pictures, which were taken from either end. "Cheltenham Chronicle" Photograph. Copies 1s. and 1s. 9d. each.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN DENCHFIELD,

Of 151 Swindon road, Cheltenham, who celebrated their golden wedding on Saturday last. All their married life has been spent in Cheltenham, where Mr. Denchfield was for long a tailor employed by Mr. A. Cummings, of the Promenade. They have two sons and a daughter living.

MR. D. J. BURKE, of 1 St. Paul's-terrace, Cheltenham, who died last week at the age of 47. He was a member of a well-known Cheltenham family, and served 15 years in the Scots Guards, being wounded in the Great War.

UNITED HUNTS (LECHLADE) AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S STOCK SHOW AND PLOUGHING COMPETITIONS

This show, held on land of the R.A. College Farm, about three miles from Cirencester, on Saturday, was very well attended.

- 1.—Miss B. A. Ticehurst's (Brimpsfield) champion sow, a prize-winner at many shows.
- 2.—Mr. Peplow (Walcot) left, with his first-prize heifers.
- 3.—Members of committee and secretaries—Messrs. Wesley, Munroe, Hodinott, "Cheltenham Chronicle" Photographs. Copies 1s. and 1s. 9d. each.
- 4 and 6.—Making the best of the day, a wet one.
- 5.—Earl Bathurst's team of working oxen took part in the competition.
- 7.—Some critics watching the champion ploughman.
- 8.—Good work—Mr. Frederick Ratcliffe, of Culkerton, winner of second prize in championship ploughing.
- 9.—Miss Cochran's (Fresden Farm, Highworth), champion stock bull, first prize.

THE CHAMPION PLOUGHMAN AT A COTSWOLD COMPETITION

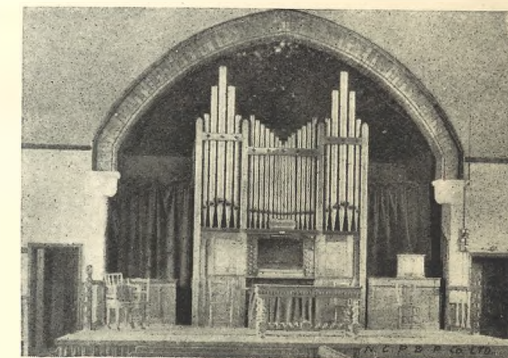

Mr. A. Blowing, ploughman to Mr. Townsend, Salperton, won the champion prize for the best ploughing at the 12th annual Cotswold competition held at Aylworth, near Naunton. He and his team make the centre of a lovely Cotswold picture, on a glorious day.
