THE NEW EYE, EAR AND THROAT HOSPITAL

Work on the new Eye, Ear and Throat block, to be attached to Cheltenham General Hospital in Sandford-road, is proceeding apace. About half-a-million of Webb Bros' Battledown bricks will be used in construction for external, internal and foundation work, and it is interesting to note that this firm's "wire-cut" specialities are more and more in demand for important contracts. The architects for the new block are Messrs. Adams, Holden and Pearson, 9 Knightsbridge, London, and the builders, Messrs. Spackman and Son, Hunt-street, Swindon, Wilts. £11,000 is still required to ensure that the new building will be opened free of debt. Needless to say, subscriptions will be gratefully received.

CIRENCESTER HOSPITAL CARNIVAL

Cirencester was favoured with a brilliantly fine day for this annual carnival on Saturday, and although the storm interfered with many other events in this part of the county, no rain fell at Cirencester until midnight. The fete, which was held in Earl Bathurst's park, was to raise money for the Memorial Hospital, and was very successful.

- 1.—The scene in the Market Place as the procession of cars and pedestrians passed through the town.
- 2.—Members of the Watermoor Junior Guild in a tableau "The Vital Question."
- 3.—The Carnival Queen (Miss Joan Rickards) with her attendants.
- 4 and 5.—Holy Trinity Girl Guides in the Tableau, "Friends from Holland," winners of first prize for Children's Tableaux.

PRESENTATION IN AN UNUSUAL SETTING

On Wednesday last the staff of Messrs. E. L. Ward, Ltd., and a few friends had a delightful outing to Aldershot Tattoo. The opportunity was taken to present a gold watch to Mr. A. S. Treasure, who has been a member of the staff for 14 years. As the party filled four coaches, our photographer had to get Mr. Bernard Ward to call a halt and make the presentation on the roadside at Puesdown, and even now only a section of the happy throng can be seen.
