A CHELTENHAM FOOD INDUSTRY—CHEESE MAKING

The Gloucestershire Dairy Company, of Cheltenham Promenade and Cirencester, make large numbers of cheeses—a department of their business which has grown very considerably in recent years and which in the present circumstances will be a very valuable asset to the country. Miss Grindon, who has qualified at Reading University and the Dairy School at Gloucester, and Miss Withers (also a trainee of the Gloucestershire Dairy School), are fully engaged in this interesting work, and at the present time 750 gallons of milk are each day made into Cheddar and Double Gloucester Cheeses of the finest quality. After the cheeses have passed these experts they are placed in special ripening rooms where for many months they receive careful attention every day, including "turning over." It is probably news to our readers that this is one of the things it is necessary to do if each cheese is to reach perfection and be of the greatest food value. These Gloucestershire Dairy cheeses are retailed at all the firm's branches at very reasonable prices.
