GERMAN AIRMEN BURIED IN SOUTH-WEST CEMETERY

Five German airmen who lost their lives last week, when a 26-years-old sergeant-pilot rammed their Heinkel bomber as it was attacking him, were given a military funeral in a little South-western hill town. The British airman sacrificed his own life in carrying out his gallant action. About 200 people gathered in the peaceful country cemetery, and a contingent of R.A.F. men from a South-west aerodrome acted as bearers and formed a firing party. The service was conducted by a R.A.F. chaplain, assisted by a local curate.

IT'S FUN TO DREAM—
but it's not the way to own a Home!

Action and industry are needed, it's working not dreaming that brings harvest. You dream of a home of your own, you would like to possess your own house and garden. Mere wishing won't give you your dream. Make a resolve, act upon it, be up and doing. Call or write to-day and investigate the Society's House Purchasing plan.
