THE RIGHT WAY AND THE WRONG

Members of the Cheltenham A.F.S. gave a demonstration at the Corporation Yard on how, and how not, to tackle incendiary bombs.

1. How not to do it. By using a jet the bomb is made to sputter violently and the fire spreads in all directions.
2. How it should be done. With a spray the flame is confined and gradually dies down.

FRANCIS-STREET FIRE-WATCHERS RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS

Air-raid Warden R. D. Turner giving instructions to fire-watchers of Francis-street, Cheltenham, on Sunday morning, on how to tackle incendiary bombs.

THE REV. T. R. PUGH

of Abermaide, Sandy-lane, Cheltenham who died on Saturday, aged 68. He was for ten years Rector of Swindon, near Cheltenham, from where he retired a year ago, to live in Cheltenham.

MR. SIDNEY JOHN LOCK, of 6, Victoria-place, Bath-road, Cheltenham, who was found dead in a wood on Leckhampton Hill. He had been discharged from the Army through ill-health. He was 43, and left a widow and seven children.

GUNNER JOHN W. HOPKINS, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hopkins, of Manor Cottage, Shaw Green, Prestbury, who was killed in a bombing raid in the South of England.

5th GLOUCESTERS' DANCE AT CHELTENHAM TOWN HALL

A dance in aid of the sports fund of the 5th Gloucestershire Battalion was held at the Cheltenham Town Hall last week
 1 Officers and friends at the dance. In centre, seated, is Major L. C. Hauting, of the Battalion. 2. Some of those present at the dance.

ST. MARK'S AND ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE RUGBY FOOTBALL TEAM which played Cheltenham on the Athletic Ground on Saturday, in a very keen game, and lost only by a goal and a try (8pts.) to nil. This College is now quartered in Cheltenham. Back row, left to right: S. W. Johnson, G. J. London, J. Hume, A. Evans, H. Whittaker, I. H. W. Haines, D. Martindale, I. M. Scales. Front row: L. A. Egbers, P. Rowland, H. Stretch, P. Walker (captain), J. E. Mallion, A. H. Noon, G. F. Banyard.

GLOUCESTER AND CHELTENHAM GREYHOUND STADIUM BREAKS RED CROSS RECORD

The generosity of the directors and patrons of the Gloucester and Cheltenham Greyhound Stadium was again illustrated on Saturday, when £450 was raised at their afternoon meeting for the British Red Cross—a record for any greyhound stadium in the kingdom. The feature of the afternoon's racing was a match, London versus the West of England, which resulted in an outstanding victory for the locally trained dogs, who finished 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, viz., Toftwood Malaga, Clara, and Loyal Servant. The match was organised by Mr. George H. Flintham, of London. Racing now takes place every Saturday afternoon at the Stadium.

- 1. Inspecting the greyhounds before the first race.
- 2. A section of the big crowd in the Members' enclosure.
- 3. Mr. J. H. Edge (Director), and Mr. George H. Flintham (of the National Greyhound Racing Society's Red Cross Committee).
- 4. Braziers in the paddock were very welcome.
- 5. Mr. Alleyne E. Davies (of Cheltenham) with his winning dog E.M.R.A.
- 6.—A pedigree Suffolk ram given by Mr. J. H. Edge brought in £60 4s. 6d. for the fund. Here he is visiting the bookmakers.
- 7. Gloucester Red Cross nurses were busy collecting.

COTSWOLD HUNT MEET AT FARMERS' ARMS, GOTHERINGTON

Hunting is carried on now on a very small scale, and the field at the meet at the Farmers' Arms, Gotherington, on Tuesday, was of very much smaller proportions than would have been expected in peace-time.

1. Miss E. E. Umfreville and Miss P. Brooks. 2.—Mr. Vic Richards with one of the hunt terriers. The terriers are carried in the box designed by Mr. Richards, on a motor-car which follows the Hunt. 3. Mr. Gerry Wilson, the champion steeplechase jockey, and Vice-Admiral F. A. Marten have a day out. 4. Mrs. Gershom Wood and her little daughter, Dinah.
