no water from the taps

Probably the ball valve feeding the cold water tank, which is likely to be in the roof space in your house, is stuck, preventing the tank from filling up. You can cure this by just pushing down on the ball arm

However, if the tank has completely emptied itself, air may have been sucked into the pipe-work, and be causing an air-lock. You can get rid of this by attaching one end of a short piece of hose to the cold tap of the kitchen sink, which is supplied directly from the mains, and the other end to the hot tap.

Turn on both taps gently.
This forces the water back up the hot pipe and should stop the trouble.

WATER POURING FROM THE W.C. OVERFLOW

There could be three reasons for this:

1. The ball float is leaking
2. Needs adjusting or
3. The valve is faulty

To find out what is wrong, remove the top of the lavatory cistern, flush the lavatory then watch the ball float. If the arm does not lift up properly, this probably means the ball is leaking. Unscrew the ball float at the end of the arm and replace it with another of the same size (preferably plastic)

If the water is overflowing badly, turn off the water at the mains, lay a strip of wood across the top of the cistern, tie a piece of string around the arm and attach it in the closed valve position to the wood. Turn the mains water on again. The W.C. cannot be flushed until the ball float is replaced.

If you find the ball is not leaking, flush the lavatory again and this time raise the arm gently. If the in-flow of water stops completely, all you need do is bend the arm downwards slightly in the middle to cut off the water at a lower level in the tank.

If when you lift the arm, water still trickles in, you have a worn washer that needs renewing or faulty valve that will have to be repaired or replaced. Sometimes a piece of grit may be caught in the washer. The replacement of a valve requires professional attention.

You will find the name, address and telephone number of a Plumber in your TRADEFINDER.

Fire Prevention

1. Have your chimney swept at least once a year.
2. Never leave a room without putting a guard in front of a fire, particularly where fires are left in all night.
3. Keep matches out of reach of children
4. Make sure that the air can circulate around a light bulb
5. Paraffin heaters should be secured to a floor or wall so that they cannot be knocked over They should have KITE mark for safety. It is very important to follow the manufacturers' instructions for cleaning and upkeep of an appliance.
6. When buying any new appliance, you should first read the manufacturers' instructions carefully
7. Long flexes are dangerous — they are easily tripped over
8. Don't hang clothes to dry over convector heaters — the air vent must always be kept clear.
9. Make sure that things are not left in front of fires that work on a time switch
10. Don't use too many adaptors on one plug. There is a danger you will overload the circuit.
11. If the same fuse blows twice, get an electrician in. You will find the name, address and telephone number of an Electrician under the relevant heading in your TRADE-FINDER.
12. Avoid having your cooker near the window where curtains could blow across the hot plates. This is dangerous.
13. All children's nightclothes must be non-inflammable. If you are making them yourself, check that the material is non-inflammable before you buy it.

ESCAPING GAS

If it is bad, throw open all the doors and windows, put out any open fires, using salt, and do a quick check that all gas taps are turned off.

A sudden draught can easily blow out a low gas light or pilot jet, so before contacting your local Gas Board, check the relevant appliances.

You may be able to trace the source of the escape by the smell, but on NO account use a lighted match to try and find it. If all your gas appliances are turned off and a smell persists, you should notify your area Gas Board immediately, turn off the gas at the meter, extinguish all naked lights and open doors and windows.

You will find the address and telephone number of the local Gas Board under the Emergency Services heading in your TRADEFINDER.
